ALMA MATER
LEHIGH UNIVERSITY

WORDS BY JOHN J. GIBSON, '95

Where the Lehigh's rocky rapids

Rush from out the West, 'Mid a grove of Spreading chestnuts, walks in ivy dressed, On the breast of Old South Mountain

Like a watchman on the mountain,
 Stands she grandly bold,
 Earth and Heavens secrets seeking,
 Hoarding them like gold,
 All she wrests from natures storehouse,
 Naught escapes her eye,
 Gives she gladly to her dear sons,
 While we bless Lehigh.

We will ever live to love her,
 Live to praise her name;
 Live to make our lives add luster
 To her glorious fame
 Let the glad notes wake the echoes,
 Joyfully we cry,
 Hail to thee, our Alma Mater!
 Hail! all Hail Lehigh!

THE SENIOR CLASS

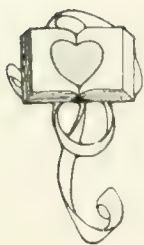

Preface

WE offer to you the Class Book of 1915, filled with the desire that it shall meet with your hearty approval and undivided interest, as well as appeal to your sense of humor. Our effort has been to portray 1915 as she is, has been and probably will be. We have kept in mind to the best of our meager ability, those things which have appealed to the class, and to its father, the college. Your words of approbation are all we may ask. That this book shall summarize, in future years, our days at Lehigh is the earnest wish of

THE COMMITTEE

S. P. TAYLOR.

Class History

THE history of the Class of 1915 differs but little from that of the classes that have preceded us.

As Freshmen we entered the "Melting Pot" with awe and a proper respect for upper-classmen but were forced to make a clean sweep of the "Founder's Day Sports" to show the Sophs. that they were not included in the term "Upper Classmen."

In our Sophomore year we began to "find" ourselves. Some of our class have departed in accordance with the words of the Scripture, "And some fell on 'Thorny' ground." Those of us that were left were bound more closely together in the bonds of "The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Freshmen."

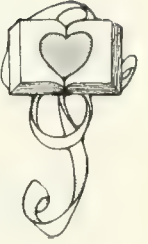

Our Junior year we witnessed the beginning of Lehigh's new athletic plant which was completed and dedicated by its donor, "Charlie" Taylor, in our Senior year.

We have furnished more than our share of athletics and have been well represented in other college activities. We are satisfied to let our record speak for itself, yet in looking back we wish that we could have done more.

Now we are on the threshold of life, our period of preparation is over, henceforth we must stand on our own feet. We realize that it is up to us to uphold the name of Lehigh in the sphere of business we have chosen for our life work. We are sorry to leave the "Ivy Clad Walls" but we have the pleasant memories of our four years' stay, which can not be taken from us.

We entered Lehigh as boys, seeking knowledge,—we go out, we hope, as men, who will ever be loyal to themselves, their class and to Lehigh.

DAVID CARLYLE AINEY, M.E.

Montrose, Pa.

"They tell me thou'rt the favored guest."

To first greet the world at Montrose; to grow and gather wisdom among its hills, till ready to enter Lehigh and benefit by her tutelage—supplemented by courses at Illinois and Pennsylvania—and now to be ready to meet the world of affairs outside the college walls—all this seems quite in the day's work. On those of us who know him, Ainey leaves the impression, first of all, of the gentleman. Tendencies to over-diplomacy, conviviality, a seeming disregard for system, are all lost as we look back over our friendship with Dave—we see only a nature of brilliancy, generosity, fine breeding and frankness. We wish him all success. He is a member of the Alpha Tau Omega Fraternity.

JOSEPH WAGNER ALBRECHT, Chem.

South Bethlehem, Pa.

"I am a native here and to the manner born."

This lad is a native. Imbibing the spirit of old Lehigh ever since he was knee-high to a dachshund, Joe had one ambition when a youngster, and that was to play on Mr. Lehigh's baseball team. This ambition cost him highly in the way of broken windows, domes and feelings, but his efforts were crowned with success. Besides this activity along base ball lines he has a hand in all the high marks handed out for efficient studying and he also has a foot in soccer doings hereabouts. Joe has chosen Chemistry for his life's work and judging from his agility and ability in getting tenth normal solutions and in fact all kinds of solutions, he undoubtedly will be a great chemist some day.

ALBERT JUSTIN AMBROSE,
C. E.

Springfield, Mass.

"Who do they call me the Gibson Girl?"

No one ever knew where Springfield was until "Jess" arrived with his trunk in 1911. If "Jess" had been born one day earlier he might have been a fire-cracker and we would have celebrated the arrival of our hero with salutations. But as Fate would have it the first the world heard of him was July 5th, 1891, and he has made plenty of noise ever since. It is not generally known that "Jess" has been voted the noisiest man in his class—but he is. His early schooling was extracted from the high school in his home town. After graduation one year was spent by Justin (his middle handle) in a foundry in Springfield where he was employed as a traveling crane. From there he came to Lehigh where he has followed his course faithfully, and as a Civil Engineer none can beat him.

LEROY ROBERT ATKINS, C. E.

Lebanon, Pa.

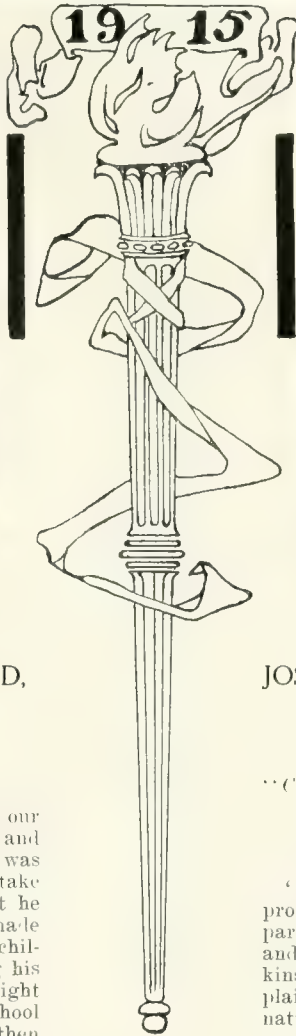

"Have you got any cigarettes?"

"Tommy" was wished on his parents away back in 1891 in the quaint old Dutch town of Lebanon. Showing signs of an engineering mind in his early childhood and still displaying them, he began his preparation for life's work in his local high school and entered Lehigh in 1910. When his classmates returned in the Fall of 1911, somebody happened to notice one day that Tommy was not among the number. He could not, however, stay away from good old "Souze" Bethlehem and its pitfalls so, in February, 1912, he returned with the grim determination to graduate from Lehigh, all Faculty action to the contrary, notwithstanding. He has managed to bluff along pretty well and at the present writing believes in his own heart that he will be honored with a diploma this June. His voice is loud at times but he knoweth not what his lips speak. Tommy is a member of the Theta Deita Chi Fraternity.

Freehold, N. J.

"I'll tell you later."

It was a happy New Year when our poor Penny first saw the light of day, and announced to the neighbors that this was the day of days. But it didn't take him a very long time to realize that he was not always to be petted and made an example for all the neighbors' children to look up to. Notwithstanding his numerous faults he got along all right until he finished the Freehold High School course and took a step further; and then the bumps came, for he found he had no cinch when he hit Lehigh; still by faithful plugging he just about finished. Good luck to him. He is a member of the Sigma Phi Epsilon Fraternity.

Vital Statistics Column.

"Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Ballinger are the proud parents of a baby boy. The fond parents had the bouncing boy "dipped" and officially christened 'Cyrus Perkins,' " in later years known as just plain "Cy." Cy has a profound imagination and tells us in these words of the eventful day when he was ushered into this mortal coil:—

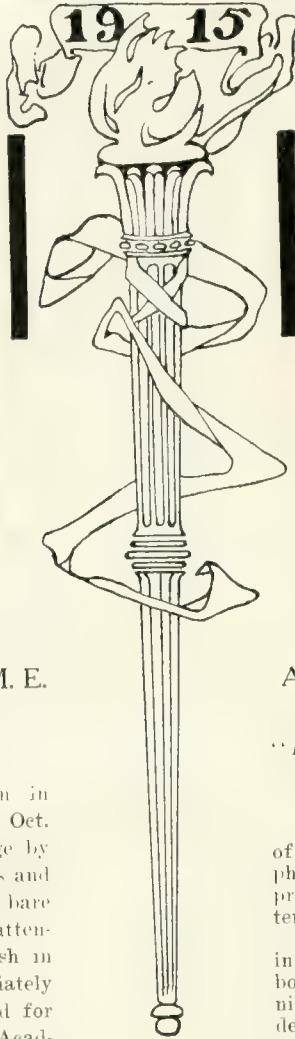

"And there I lay just one day old,
And I breathed and breathed,
Just like I was a human being."

By way of remark, his friends hope his memory during his last days will be as vivid as on his first.

JOHN MYERS BAUSMAN, M. E.

Bausman, Pa.

"Still water runneth deep."

John Myers Bausman was born in Bausman, Bausman County, Pa., on Oct. 22, 1893. John is no small package by any means, as he weighs 230 pounds and stands 6 feet 3 inches high in his bare feet. He was first brought to our attention at the time of the banner rush in our Freshman year and was immediately put in the front line. He prepared for Lehigh at Franklin and Marshall Academy and then drifted here in 1911. He is taking up mechanical engineering and will no doubt develop into quite an inventive genius.

ALBERT STEIN BLANK, C. E.

Allentown, Pa.

"It is a good thing to laugh at any rate, and if a straw can tickle a man, it is an instrument of happiness."

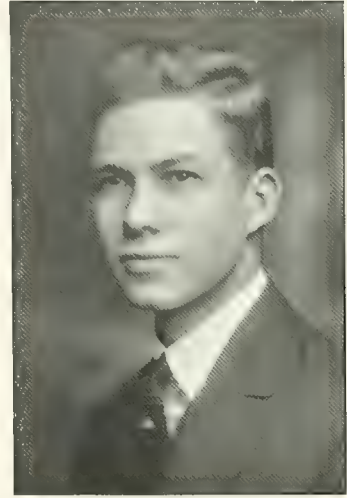

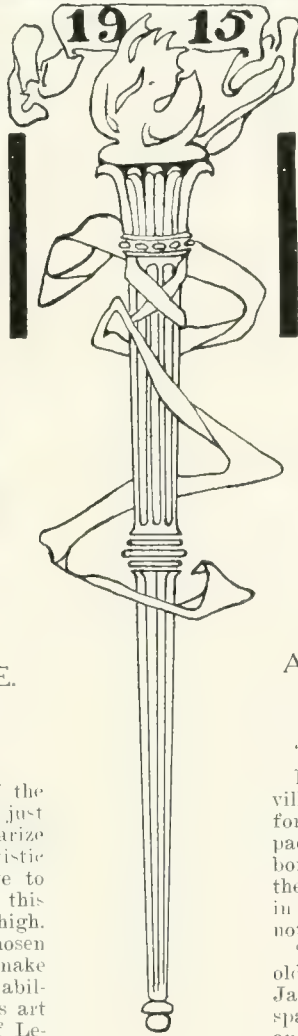

We hope no one accuses the Committee of having written the following biography. The author is unknown but is probably one of the pupils of the Meschter school.

On the first of February, at early dawn, in the city of Allentown, this youth was born, in the year eighteen hundred and ninety-three; he then little thought of his destiny. And when he grew into a boy, his parents' hearts were filled with joy, for at oratory he was inclined, and they had half made up their mind, that some day a lawyer they should see, but Fate decided it should not be. To school he went, and studied, too; and soon was through with the public school. Then to Allentown Prep. he went. Here his time was well spent and after graduating to Lehigh he decided to go. At first, what course to take—he did not know, but very soon began to see, the course for him was the C. E. So now he is full of Lehigh's knowledge, for which four years he went to college, so out in the wide world he will now start; and let us hope he will make his mark. He is a member of the Alpha Tau Omega Fraternity.

IRA JAMES BLEILER, M. E.

Allentown, Pa.

"Gehen Sie noch dem Stadt."

Ira James Bleiler is a product of the coal regions. We are not sure of just what coal regions, but why particularize in this day of generalities? His artistic temperament compelled him to move to Allentown at the age of nine. In this obscure village he prepared for Lehigh. Mechanical Engineering is his chosen profession, and he will certainly make good, judging from his remarkable ability in handling indicator cards. His art work has graced the pages of all of Lehigh's leading jingoe journals in the last few years, and yes, dear reader, if you search industriously you may even find some of his work in this remarkable publication.

ALBERT VAN SANT BODINE

Lambertville, N. J.

"If 't be a man's work, I'll do 't."

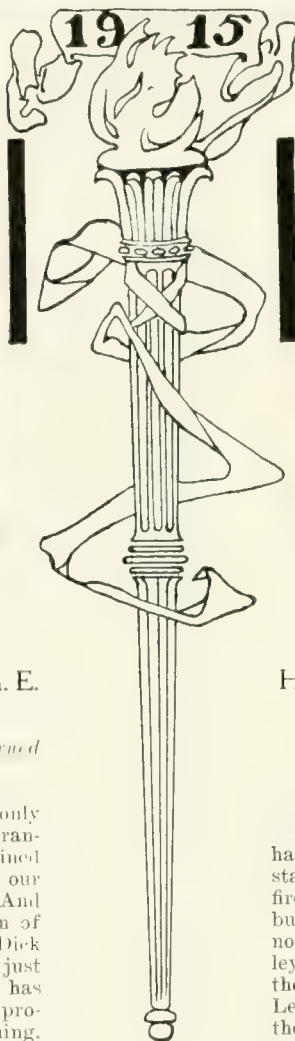

Ever since Oct. 15th, 1894, Lambertville, over there in Jersey, has been the fortunate and proud possessor of a little package of personified music. He was a born singer. In his early days he kept the people awake with his howling, and in later years made them sit up and take notice of his melodious voice.

"Bo" was also a firm believer in that old saying, "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy" and consequently in his spare hours he took his trusty air rifle and went off to shoot his tormentors—the poor little pussy cats. At this he acquired such skill (which in turn brought him the reputation of the village roughneck), that the villagers all feared him, and would duck into their houses and the little children would run when "BO" came down the road.

RICHARD NOBLE BOYD, Ch. E.

Scranton, Pa.

"Knowledge is proud that he has learned so much."

This specimen becomes uneasy only when the trainman's voice yells "Scranton," for it is from that ideally refined city of cities and coal mines that our Richard escaped to become a Ch. E. And since that memorable day he has been of a chemical trend of mind. Dick was wished on our Alma Mater just four years ago and since that time has been astounding instructors and professors alike for his zeal for learning. His quest has not been in vain, however, and we now proudly number him among our intellectual lights. Indeed he fully looks the part, although we doubt whether the Danderine people would book him as one of their best ads. Nevertheless he is not sensitive about his absence of hair and when questioned about the cause of this condition, answers merely that he is not sure but he thinks he was born in that deplorable condition. Dick is a member of the Sigma Chi Fraternity.

HERBERT EARLE BRADLEY,

E. E.

West Haven, Conn.

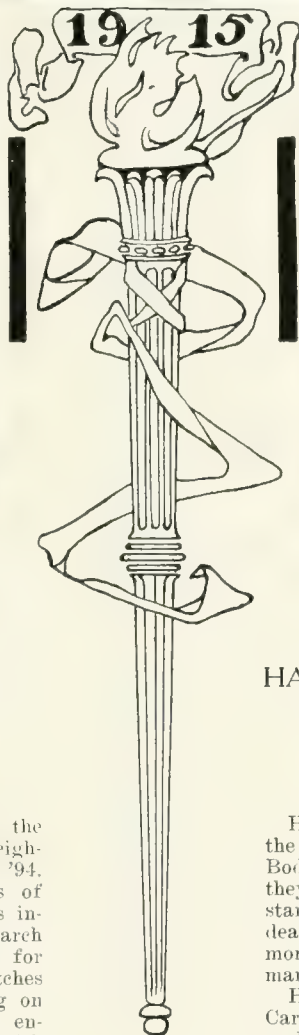

"Hey, Gup."

On the night of May 16, 1887, the inhabitants of Winsted, Conn., were startled by the terrific clanging of the fire bell. People rushed as if to a fire but it was a false alarm. The bells announced the birth of Herbert Earle Bradley. Get that?—Herbert Earle. Yes, it's the same fellow, it's Pop. Pop came to Lehigh in 1911 and after suffering from the "arrows of outrageous misfortune" finally got in with Bill's bunch of Senior Electricals. Pop's good nature has won him many friends, and if personality means promotion, Pop will in time, replace Steinmetz or even Bill, which latter is his fondest hope.

He knows fifty definitions for electricity, is a wizard at the switches and made a very creditable showing on the recent trip to New York and environs. He is in perfect sympathy with (in phase with) the circuit-breaker, the synchronous motor and "Dutchy" Seyfert, but has a 90 degree lead when it comes to anything along wireless lines.

HAROLD AUGUSTUS BROWN,
M. E.

Carbondale, Pa.

"Keep smiling."

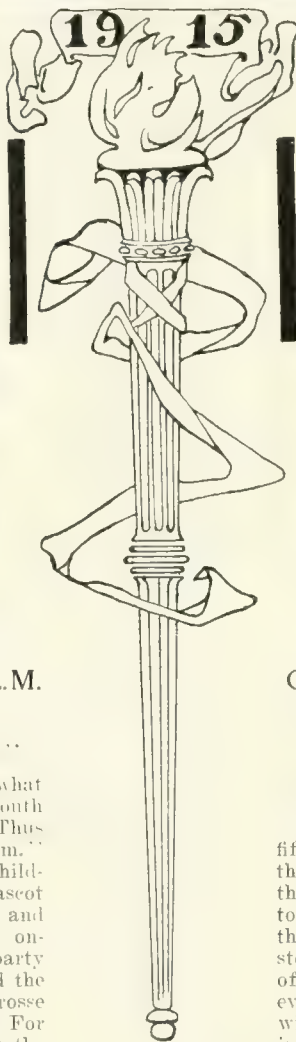

Here is a man whom we all know. To the freshmen he signifies, "The Student Body," a small, silent part of which they are; to the upper classmen Brown stands for good fellowship and square dealing, and also as one who has done more for his college than any other one man in the class.

Harold Augustus Brown was born in Carbondale, Dec. 9, 1893. He spent his early life there and graduated from the Carbondale High School. Even here he showed his ability as a leader when he graduated as president of his class. He entered Lehigh with the class of 1915, was twice president of the class, and a member of Tau Beta Pi, thus proving his early reputation beyond a doubt. He is a member of the Delta Tau Delta Fraternity.

LEONARD JEROME BUCK, E.M.

Bethlehem, Pa.

"For I am nothing, if not critical"

Leonard Jerome Buck (Ah! what music to the ears) was born in South Bethlehem on September 29, 1893. "Thus riseth the second star of Bethlehem." Living near the athletic field, his childhood delight was to be Lehigh's mascot and drive his trained goats round and round the Track. Little did the on-lookers suspect that this self-same party would later drive the "Bull" around the same track or lead Lehigh's Lacrosse team to the same field of battle. For preparatory work he was sentenced to the Bethlehem Prep., where, by the aid of "Scrap," and the other attendants, he absorbed enough knowledge to enter college. During his four years at college, the lacrosse games would not have appeared real had they not been graced by the presence of his "figure." He is a member of the Beta Theta Pi Fraternity.

CLIFTON LINFORD BUTLER, C. E.

Beach Haven, N. J.

"I sat me down in my casa-chair."

Early in the morning of the twenty-fifth day of February in 1892, at and in the prosperous burgh of Tuckerton, N. J., there appeared to the eyes of the astounded world, a new embryo exponent of the strenuous life. His delighted parents stopped at no expense to give the best of advantages to this precocious child, even giving him three whole names—to wit—Clifton Linford Butler. As the infant brain partially discarded its comatic state, he was admitted to and graduated from the Camden High School, and the Abington Friends' School. Growing bolder, he essayed the heights of old Lehigh and eventually topped them. He is a member of the Sigma Phi Epsilon Fraternity.

The scholastic environment was too much for "Birdie" and he succumbed to the wiles of old Lehigh, after preparing at the local High School. The Civil Engineering Department has taken him in hand, and is resolved to turn out a good product, capable of upholding the high standard, etc., etc.

"Sat by his fire and talked the night away."

Many a time have the honorable members of the Senior Mining Course found themselves spellbound and dazzled into paralysis. The reason—Senior Castillo was holding forth at the board, explaining some intricate phase of science in his own inimitable manner. We often wondered just where he obtained the knack of it. The secret is at last out—he used to be a teacher. For three years he delighted in unraveling theories and propositions to gasping seekers of knowledge. "El Toro" was born in Santiago de Cuba some years ago. It was there he went to school and later taught. In 1911 he entered Penn State and in 1913 was registered in the Mining course at Lehigh.

And it was while roaming about here that he decided on Stevens Prep. as the place to prepare him for Lehigh. KINGFAN CHANG, E. M.

Swaton, China

"Man's mind is mighty."

"Man is born with troubles," says Mencius. It is also true that trouble makes the man. Here is one who won't call himself a man yet, because he has never experienced any trouble. He scintillates with optimism. Trouble melts before him and evaporates. Tie a millstone around his neck in the way of several conditions and he bobs up smiling, nonchalantly twirling a deadly cigarette between his fingers. This happy being, Kingfan Chang by name, is a native of Swaton, China, and spent the greater part of his youthful days in that vicinity. Imbued with the engineering spirit, however, he embarked on a Chinese junk in 1911 and after a tempestuous voyage landed at the Colorado School of Mines. Finding it too easy there (not enough trouble) he traveled farther, and one fine day in 1913 he sailed up the Lehigh River. He tied his junk to the wharf, and has not had occasion to use it since.

Garland managed to pull through the Mechanical Course until his Senior year without causing anybody alarm. The nickname "Gasolene Gus" explains his downfall. An 1898 model automobile may be all right to take apart but, Oh! my, when it comes to assembling and there are too many parts! The worst we can say for him is that he is a gentleman through and through, but he does not like the "niggus." You will not find him out every night. Lun Yuen Chow was born in Ningpo, China, on June 16, 1891. This lad, while still young, proved very adept in the study of foreign languages. He fairly ate languages, and his appetite was never sated. Hence it was that to still further broaden his education and views of life he was conveyed across the Pacific in a conveyor. He hesitated for a year at the University of Illinois, taking the Mechanical Course. He soon realized, however, that mining was of more importance to his country and hence there was nothing more for him to do but to pack up his "duds" and hop along to Lehigh. "Charlie" has a very cheerful disposition and makes quite a neat background for his sweet little mustache.

"If not, why not?"

The first notice we had of Jewell, that is, the first prominent notice, was when he talked and talked at the Junior Oratorical Contest on "Is the Proposed Increase in Railroad Rates Justifiable." We understand that the Interstate Commerce Commission called upon him for testimony and that his work has been largely responsible for the railroad rate of $2.84 to Philadelphia and return. But, outside of this detail, we have nothing against the Jewell. He is a talkative sort of individual but people do not hold this against him. The fact of the matter is that they do not blame him; it was probably brought on by environment and not heredity. We have just been raking our brains to discover what profession we shall choose for the "Dry Cell" and have come to the conclusion that he will make an excellent politician. Harold Drinker Cranmer astounds us all by telling us that he is a Jerseyite. He was born in West Creek, N. J., on Feb. 7, 1893. Pinky's propinquity to the Chapel does not seem to have affected his desire for all that is "light and gay." But we shall not delve into that. Sufficient be it to say that he is what is commonly known as a "bandist," that is one who plays in a band. We have never noticed particularly what it is that Pinky plays, but we may all be assured that it makes noise. He will undoubtedly continue making a big noise when he graduates forth from this institution, and we are bound to hear from him.

"Still water may run deep, but a still mind is shallow."

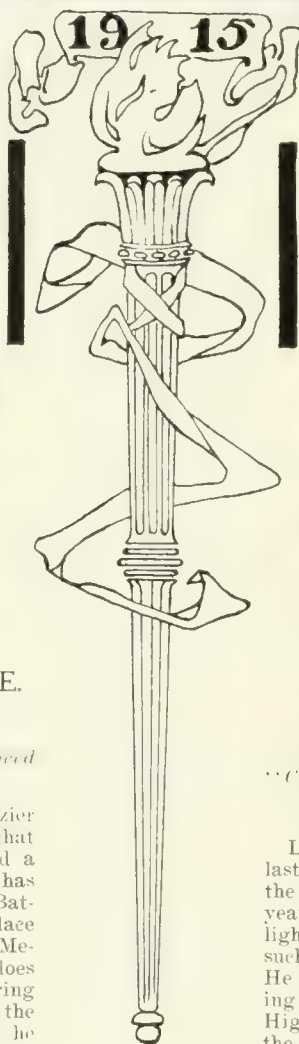

Trinity College not having the latest facilities to satisfy Steve's dearest ambitions, he left there and came upon us in the fall of 1912 like a gust of wind, convincing the Faculty that the few years spent at Trinity had duly qualified him to join the frivolities of the noble class of 1915. He soon proved his ability and became the greatest heavier in Skipper's "Order of Coal Diggers."

Steve can be found almost any night delving into the mysteries of science or escorting some fair damsel. PHILIP GREENAWALT

DE HUFF, M. E.

Lebanon, Pa.

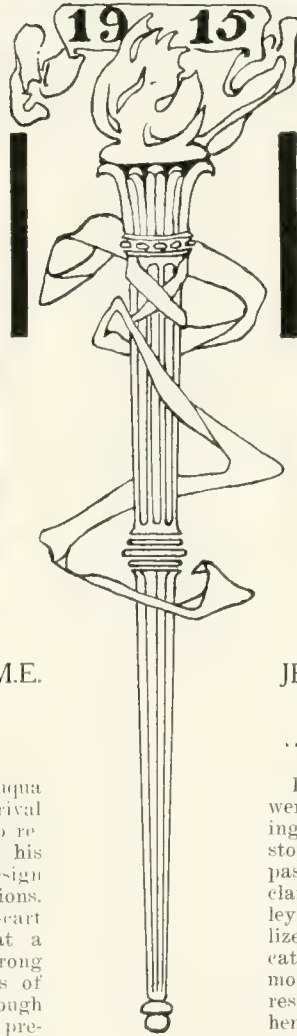

"Come, step in, gentle folks, here we may view an exact and actual representation."

Lebanon, the city of cedars, has at last become known. Great historians give the date as May 16, 1893, for in that year was heard the Ohs! and Ahs! of delighted admirers. Why? Can you ask such a question? "Flip" had arrived. He grew well and became famous, having received a "dip" from Lebanon High in 1911. But "Flip," pondering the words of great men, in his heart thought of the one who said "All things come to him who waits, but don't wait for the foot of the line," decided to come to Lehigh. "Hello, fellows," (with inflection) it said on its arrival. The wonder had left the forest of cedars and come to the "Holy City," Bethlehem. He pursued the course of mechanical engineering and lost the absent-mindedness acquired in the forest. His genial and winning ways have won for him a vast circle of friends who expect some day to hear of him as Chief plumber of the Lebanon Sausage Works.

"Beware the fury of a patient man."

In 1892 the residents of Wilkes-Barre were astounded to see a large parade going back and forth on the street. It stopped from time to time and then the passers-by could read the notice proclaiming the arrival of Jesse James Dilley. At the tender age of two he realized the fact that to complete his education properly he should have to have more metropolitan environments. So his residence was changed to South Bethlehem. He attended Bethlehem Prep. until fitted properly for his intended work in Lehigh.

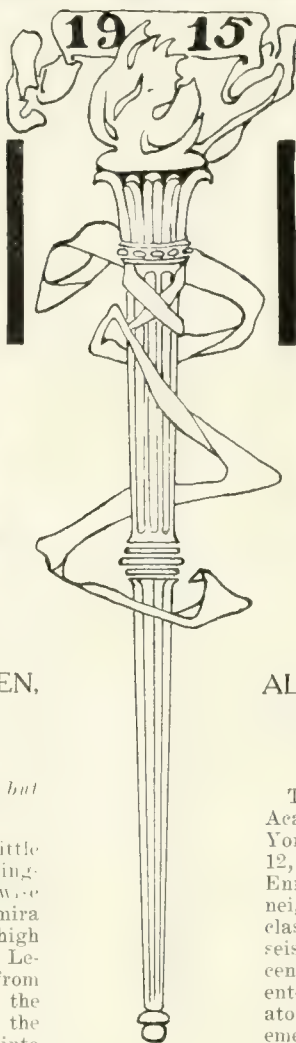

Early in life he was suspended in his cradle from a canary bird cage hook. In his movements he squirmed too hard and the hook broke—precipitating the poor infant to the floor. Since that time he has been designing and planning secretly a patent non-spillable baby holder. Lately it has been rumored that with Prof. de S.'s assistance he has accomplished the desired result in the form of a goose-neck crane for holding the baby safely.

Keep up the good work, Jess.

The seismograph in the American Academy of Natural Science in New York was temporarily destroyed on June 12, 1890. On that day Albert French Ennis registered his first kick in the neighboring borough of Brooklyn. A class in Paleontology was shown this seismographical curiosity while on a recent trip to New York. "Bert" has entered and emerged from many preparatory schools, but thus far has not emerged from Lehigh. "Bring on the Fish."

According to the Cardiff Daily, "Windignilly," this bouny Welshman was bloochin in Johnstown, Pa., on June 10, 1892. The notice further states that "bhyr y rhoes Diawl ei fys ith Din," which sounds like another name for Hungarian goulash, but really means that the youngster was born with a pipe in his mouth. "Lew" and his "5 brothers" are inseparable twins. This sounds like an etymological and siamitical impossibility, but it's a fact. Passing thru the Johnstown High School with ease he was told that Lehigh presented an interesting problem in the way of higher education, and hence it was that with oil-lamp on head, pick on shoulder and a bulging jaw, this hardy coal miner descended upon us to solve that "problem." His success is shown by the fact that he is still counted among those remaining. "Lew" is a familiar figure on the Campus with his contagious smile, cheery words and "sweet tenor." Allow me! Mr. Linwood H. Geyer, Editor of the Lehigh "Burr," and a basketball hero. (For other information see the results of the class ballot). We would like to say a whole lot of things but the trouble is that Lin knows who is writing this biography and he may hurt us "editorially" to say nothing of "bodily." It's a funny thing, sometimes we like "Shorty" and sometimes we don't. I think that the trouble is that we are jealous of him and when he "slips one over," we get sore. He is a mighty fine chap and an incessant (we almost said infernal) worker. He has ever had the interests of Lehigh at heart and goes into anything with heart and soul. We can hardly make ourselves believe it, but he must be bright for he has "done things" and, at the same time, pulled good marks during his four years' stay with us. He is modest, too. All went well until one day, having been caught bathing in a fountain pen, he was delivered over to Thorny and his terrible gang. Rome, N. Y.

"Worth before pleasure."

Louis George Glesmann first acquired his love for the wild mountains of northern New York State in the early nineties. Born in Rome, N. Y., on August 21, 1893, imbued with the hard, husky traits of the settlers, he has grown into a real man of characteristics to be envied by all. His early education was received in the Rome Free Academy where he was active athletically and scholastically. "System and grit" are his watchwords and with this slogan he has spent four years at Lehigh finding troubles easy and making good. He has been active in other than mere scholastic work and has been an exponent of the "Do it now" theory. His efforts as a student have been rewarded by membership in Tau Beta Pi. Success is his haven and he will get there fast. He is a member of the Delta Tau Delta Fraternity.

ROBERT EDWARD GOYNES,
E. M.

Ashland, Pa.

"'Outen' that light."

On the fourth of April, in the year of our Lord, 1890, occurred, in the little village of Ashland, an event which later caused the village fathers an incessant amount of worry. He was christened "Robert Edward" with as much pomp and display as Theodore Roosevelt would have in addressing a Womans' Suffrage meeting. He spent a brief period of his career at State. Then this mental prodigy came to Lehigh to delve into the mysteries of mines. He expects to spend his time in the future washing coal dust from his face.

FRED WILLIAM GREEN, M. E.

Wilbraham, Mass.

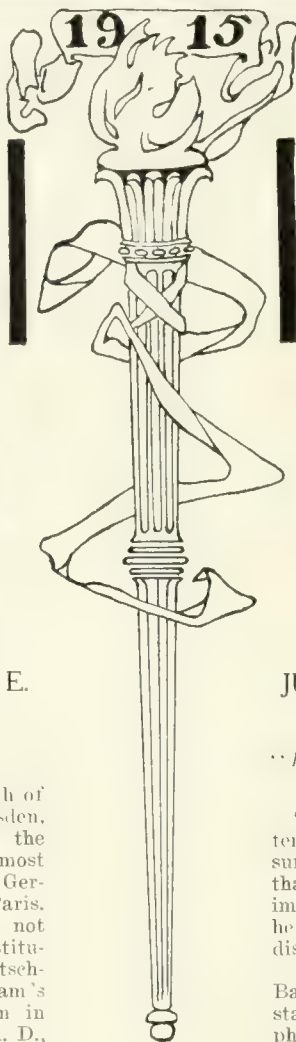

*"And when he next doth ride abroad
May I be there to see."*

There is a certain species of bird common to many colleges, whose genus name is "All-around athlete." Freddie has been correlated with this tribe as is evidenced by his activities cited below. Why not take a hand in the war, Fred? A man who can win 4 L's in one year is certainly capable of winning an Iron Cross in the Kaiser's army. "Put the wood to 'em." This eventual "strong man" of the class was born in Wilbraham, Mass., on Jan. 17, 1893, and prepared for Lehigh at Wilbraham Academy. With all his activity along athletic lines, Freddie has not neglected his books nor has he failed to flutter the flighty fair ones from time to time. He is a member of the Theta Xi Fraternity.

"Take hence the bowl!"

In the midst of the beautiful month of May, 1893, there was born in Dresden, Germany, a sturdy candidate for the Kaiser's army. After obtaining a most thorough educational foundation in German schools, he meandered to Paris. However, the French capital did not seem to agree with his German constitution, so he soon returned to the Deutschland. He finally decided that Uncle Sam's country was the only spot for him in this world. Consequently, in 1908, A. D., he crossed the briny puddle and settled in Wilkes-Barre, Pa., where he soon graduated from Harry Hillman Academy. Now he is one of these bright Lehigh College students, full of high ambitions. We may assure you that Dutch has got the stuff to carry out these ambitions to the fullest extent.

JULIUS FREDERICK HARDER

Newark, N. J.

"Earth has not anything to show more fair."

"Jules" was born on the 29th of September, 1892. It must have been a sunshiny day, for it is said on good faith that the bright beams made such a lasting impression on his fair countenance that he will never cease being of a cheerful disposition. How pleasant!

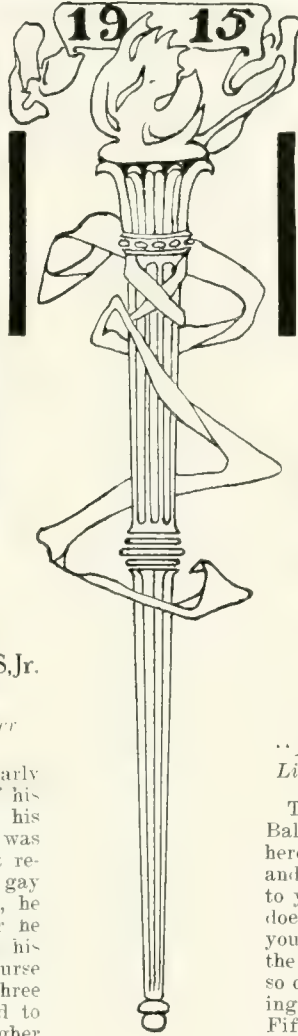

He received his early education at Barringer High School where he used to stand by the hour and admire a large photogravure of Lehigh. He decided it was the place for him and made his debut here in September, 1911, with the rest of the elite.

Strange to say he despises the ladies. He is a civil engineer by disposition but opinion has it that he is a better cartoonist. At any rate we are sure there is a prosperous future awaiting him—regardless of who wins the war.

"The very sunbeams seem to linger Above that bonny head."

We pass with haste over Hig's early life for the more important events of his brief but brilliant career came in his "after life." We say this for it was generally the "morning after" that revealed the daring escapades of this gay Lothario. Entering as a Freshman, he was soon known on the campus for he had a peculiar way of revealing his whereabouts. As the Chemistry Course only requires one recitation and three lectures a week, he could well afford to spend a great deal of his time on "higher education," which includes "being a kind and loving friend to several of the Bethlehems' fairest beauties." Some of these things can only be mentioned, or perhaps better, suggested. He has been identified with many and various college activities and is always the same reliable man. Known to all we can only quote one of his classmates, who says, "A student, a good fellow and a true friend, 'Hig' embodies that unusual personality, which makes him liked by all, both friend and foe." He is a member of the Sigma Nu Fraternity.

JOHN BOSLEY HISS, C. E.

Baltimore, Md.

"A man's best things are nearest him Lie close about his feet."

Two great landmarks in the history of Baltimore are the great fire and our hero's birth. The one was a catastrophe and the other — Well, we leave it to your imagination, gentle reader. Space does not permit us to dwell upon his youthful follies. Next we find him at the Friends School, but the silence was so oppressive here that he gave up preaching and entered Baltimore City College. Fifteen years or so later we find him registered as a C. E. at Lehigh. Here his ultimate craving for the hidden mysteries of Physics and Math. was exemplified by his frantic attempts to repeat them over and over. But now his time is spent principally in wrestling, either with a shovel, in the cement laboratory, or with a lacrosse stick on the field. In order to recuperate from these arduous pastimes he summers at Lake George, where exercise cards are unknown. Be this as it may, spacing rivets is his pet hobby, and so we may expect in the future to hear from him as President of the McMarshall-Clintie Destruction Co.

"To see him hit the line."

This ardent admirer of the Stewart platform was born in Claremont, N. H., in 1890. We can imagine "George" as a curly-headed youngster in knickerbockers, kicking his way through the primary schools up there in the White Hills (we are making a broad geographic guess here). We can see him shedding a few tears as he boarded the smoking (?) car of the Boston and Maine Special which carried him to Dartmouth. We see him as in a dream, going through all the vicissitudes of a student and a gentleman at that historic stronghold of Yankee education. In September, 1912, we return to Lehigh and find this handsome brute in football togs, booting the ball between Bozey's goal posts. A member of the famous "Wrecking Crew" which helped replace Lehigh in the Football World, George's broad smile has won its way into the hearts of all his fellow students. Success is bound to be his no matter what line of work he may tackle. Here's to you, George! He is a member of the Phi Sigma Kappa Fraternity.

LLOYD HOFFMAN, B.S. in Geol.

Pottersville, N. J.

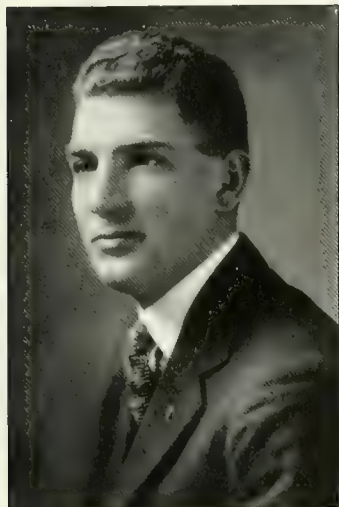

"Caramba! Stick to it."

"Trusty" was born in '87, somewhere among the hills of Northern New Jersey. After the strenuous district school work he "rested" for two years in a "jerk-water" Methodist Academy in Vermont. He preped for Lehigh at Peddie Institute, graduating from there in '07. That fall he entered Lehigh and was one of the football squad for two seasons. Then Canada's virgin forests and mines called irresistibly to him. Three years later "Trusty" took his second installment of higher education. After one short term of the tame academic, wanderlust again claimed him for her own. This time it was the tropics of South America. He returned to Old Lehigh and joined the Junior Class in 1914. In spite of all his wanderings Lloyd has found time to make a niche for himself in the hall of football fame of his Alma Mater. In appreciation of loyalty and persistency so characteristic of "Trusty" Hoffman, Coach Keady presented him with a gold watch on the eve of the Lafayette game. Barring a mining stampede or an oil boom "Trusty" will be among the chosen ones on Commencement Day.

"You and me both—"

'Twas a thankful day in Germantown when our Effingham arrived for he brought with him a huge cast iron cup, since he was a cup baby. Indeed this has been deemed the reason for his exceptional skill with cups, for grease, oil, etc. Not long was his birthplace to be favored, however, for in his early infancy (Meschter, please copy) he transferred his affections to the wilderness of the coal regions of Centralia. There he taught the Hunks Thermodynamics in his spare moments, and between times rested at B. P. S. Then, following in his forefathers' wheel tracks, he fell upon Lehigh as a likely place to stock up in culture and refinement. Here he took up the Mechanical Engineering Course, as it was his natural bent and as the ballots show he takes the blue ribbon. May his beaming countenance beam on forever as it has in the last four years. He is a member of the Phi Gamma Delta Fraternity.

SAN-ZEN KAUNG, E. M.
China

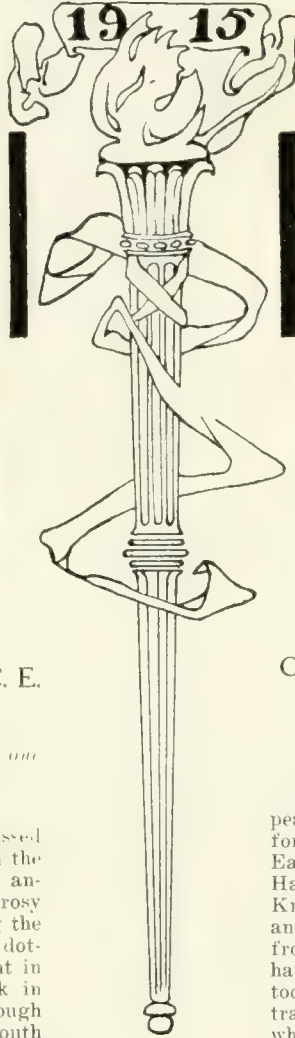

"I learned the language of another world."

San-Zen Kaung, alias "Jimmy," alias "Corn," was born in 1892 at Kiating, Kiang-Soo, China, if that implies anything. He began to attend school, as most of us do, but desiring to broaden his mind and experience, one day he boarded a sky-rocket and flipped a matter of 180 degrees around the globe. Illinois University held his attention for a year and then he switched on here in 1912. Speaking of "switching on," that is Jimmy's favorite occupation in Dynamo Lab.; unless he has the circuit breaker describing 60 r. p. m., he is not satisfied with the day's work. He first came into fame by startling us with that memorable speech at the Junior banquet on "Queens—Past and Present." Nothing he said ever startled us after that. He has several ambitions in life; one is to climb thousand foot shafts and another is in connection with Fischer, which we will not state just now. Jimmy is a shark in all his studies and is a mighty good fellow.

Never had the balmy South passed through a happier moment than when the town crier dressed for the occasion, announced our hero's arrival. At this rosy age he won the blue ribbon for being the best baby. He was no trouble to his dotting parents, for all his time was spent in snoozing. After reading every book in the town library and slipping through B. P. L., he set his face toward South Bethlehem to take up mining. However, this subject he found too deep for him, so he changed his mind and is now one of Mae's shining stars in astronomy, etc. The reason for the change is easily evident when one considers Cy's aptitude for such subjects as forestry lectures, surveying and railroads. Pat, as he is called, was born in the peaceful clime of California, but fate and fortune decreed that he should wander East to the quiet state of Connecticut. Hartford had its appeal, but Father Knickerbocker offered better facilities, and thus our lengthy friend graduated from Trinity School in Gotham. After having spent a few years in college he took up his residence midst the race tracks and gambling dens of Saratoga, where the spring waters had banished all appeal for local Uhl's. The business course attracted the fair youth, and he will graduate as an underling of "Baldy." Pat has a faculty of getting away with it, with the older folks, to say nothing of his line, when it comes to society. Affiliation with the Musical Clubs, and the trials and tribulations of a cheer leader have made him one of the seven heroes of the Keystone State.

"Shoot a nickel."

Samuel Wilson Laird meandered into South Bethlehem one September morn in 1911. Like all young streams he has eroded quite a deep mark on the annals of the 1915 Class. He started out in the Mechanical Course, but realizing the utter futility and uselessness of such a course, he changed to mining in his Sophomore year. He tells us that he hasn't regretted his change of policy, but once he gets his E. M. degree is not certain whether to go into Journalism or street highway work. Bill is a dramatist of some note; his portrayal of a sailor in the show last year made a decided hit. *"And still they gazed and still the wonder grew
That one small head could carry all he knew."*

"Bright as a whistle." You have often heard this expression but have you given it consideration? Does it convey the proper meaning to you? A whistle may be bright due to some intrinsic pyrotechnic display or due to its inherent glittering qualities. But in reality a whistle is bright due to a peculiar sensation that it produces on the sensory nerves in the eustachian tube—but calmly! We are now treading in the realms of Psychology. We withdraw with no undue haste, leaving a further discussion of this matter to the proper authorities. Clarence Jerome, the youngest member of the Class, was born in Allentown on Feb. 18, 1895. All of the above paragraph was written for his benefit. As a child he used to squat upon the banks of the murky Lehigh River and marvel at its wonderful and sparkling clearness. Why this should have caused him to take a course in Chemical Engineering and Bacteriology we cannot imagine, but in connection with this we simply state—"Jerry" is quite a lad on the dye stuff and should make a good undertaker.

The story is often told on "Ike" that one day he wandered too close to a blast furnace and singed a whisker on his left eyebrow. This ever after caused him to have an expression as of deep reflection. Thinking that this expression presaged higher education he was sent to the Senior Machine Design Dept., where we often see him applying the equation of a catenary in trying to solve the path described by a piece of Tastykake. It may have been that because he was named Franklin that he was entered in the Electrical Course at Lehigh, or it may have been that he showed ability at flying kites that he was called after the great scientist. Yes, that is what the folks call him, but to us he has always been just plain "Pete." This 150 pound progressive hails from Tuckahoe, down on the Jersey shore where all the rest of the mosquitoes thrive, and like them, he has always been fond of spending the evenings out calling on the neighborhood. He bears the reputation of having petitioned the Faculty to take extra work. Born, raised and educated in Middletown, he acquired slowness but a definiteness of manner. Anticipating your question, we will say in Niel's own words that "Harrisburg is near Middletown;" that is as much as can be drawn out of this reticent young man. It took Bethlehem Prep. just two years to patch the wounds left in his education by the graft ridden Middletown Board of Education. At Lehigh, Matty has been active and has managed to complete the Electrical Engineering course in four years—a most remarkable record. Niel is a member of the Kappa Sigma Fraternity.

"And maidens call it love-idleness."

"Wink" first blinked his eyes in Brooklyn on Sept. 9, 1892. Brooklyn has been a subject of much joshing so we shall not try to give it any more publicity than it deserves. But there came a time in William Conrad's life when it behooved him to cross the Brooklyn Bridge. Astonished by all he saw, he became filled with a desire for what is commonly known as "higher education." Not satisfied with what New York had to offer in this line, he heard of a college situated in the same town as Bishop-thorpe. He did not hesitate long in deciding to come here. "The small are sometimes big."

Sammy handed in a beautiful biography, flowery but not exaggerated. The Committee was afraid to publish it for fear it would offset too greatly the poorly worded nothings under the names of others of this illustrious class. Suffice it to say that Mitman is a home product and after graduating from Bethlehem Prep. decided to continue patronizing home industries. The Runt is in the Mechanical Department and we understand that he likes Lehigh so well that he is going to take another year under the tutelage of its noble instructors. It was cheering that made Sammy famous. He was tired of being lost in the crowd so he thought it would be a great scheme to be cheer leader and make everybody listen to him and see him working up a perspiration. He is one of the few that attend chapel. Your question may be answered by his last name. But time rolled onward and "Count" finally was graduated from the little red school on the coal dirt. He left for a distant educational center, namely, Freeland, where he attended the M. & M. I., and after a few years with some bone head classmates he was graduated and fortunate enough to find that he had "cooped a prize" in being an honor man. So he took his prize and came to Lehigh. In his Freshman year he appeared at South Bethlehem with a grey suit and, strange to say, it was a purple one the next and still the next, and then some. Do you remember, now? Of course, you do. He is a man of few words, so the professors say. But withal, he is good at heart and sometime he is going to prove it. His principle occupation while at Lehigh has been to try to get some subjects, not too hard, to fill up his roster. By the looks of things, he has succeeded. It was late in his scholastic career that Nels discovered the art of fussing and he has become quite adept in his chosen profession.

Entered the University of Pittsburgh in the Fall of 1911 and completed one year of college work there. Came to Allentown in the Fall of 1912 and entered Lehigh." This is all that Parlour had to say for himself except that he has no nick-name. We can add little. He was one of the deadly commuters and, although exposed to Baldy for several terms, never lost the idea that he should be left alone to his thoughts. There is a lot of white paper here but we can think of nothing else to say of this "Dutchman by choice." Another thought illuminates our brains: Why did he move to Allentown? One hundred dollars will be given the man who hands in the best solution. The only bad thing that George ever did was to try to raise a moustache in his Senior year.

"Nobody home!"

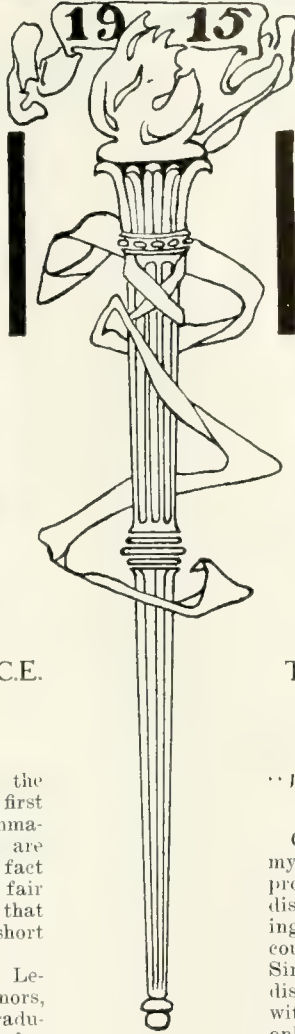

Back in the dark ages of '93, at the seat of Morris County, little Russ first saw Mother Earth. His days of immaturity were spent in Morristown and are of minor interest except for the fact that he was easily the idol of all the fair ones in his class, owing to the fact that he was the only one to graduate in short pants.

In the fall of 1911 Pewee entered Lehigh and he came with superb honors, having outwitted several Cornell graduates in "running a gun;" but later being outdone by a Cornell Freshman in "running a Fraulein." One of Russ's most important honors was first sub. to the gym. team.

In conclusion let me state that he must be a Socialist from the way he mingles with all classes of society and that he is a better celebration speaker than Champ Clark since people will listen to him and not to Champ. He is a member of the Sigma Nu Fraternity.

Evenwood, W. Va.

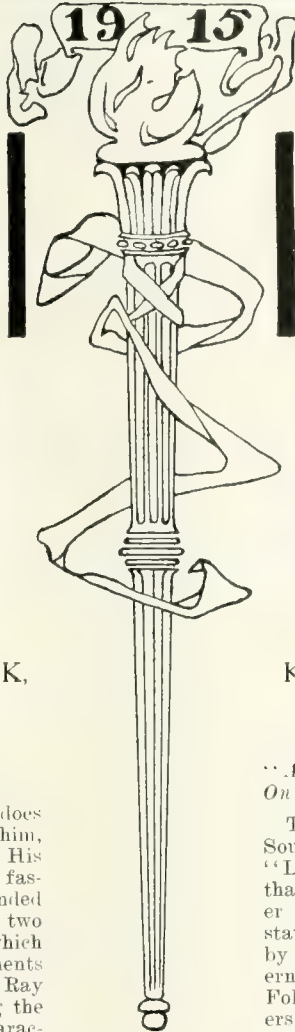

"And even his feelings lean to virtue's side."

Nurtured mid the riches of Virginian forests where he loves to wander in answer to the wild and luring call of the mountain streams and rocks and tossing pines, in sheer delight to revel in their song, Skip came to us with clear and noble mind. Ever has he guarded the truths thus learned in that Arcadian school, and the seed of discontent has fallen not his way. Never has he ceased to uphold the principles that he sees and to use them to serve his Alma Mater and his friends. He is frank to a fault—but a fault soon lost in our enthusiasm for his jovial and unconventional manner. May the future contain nothing but the best for you—good old Skip! RAYMOND ARTHUR RANK, Palmyra, Pa.

"What will you have, fellows?"

This lad is a good boy but he does not show it on the surface. Ask him, and he will tell you the same thing. His history is interesting. Tiring of the fastidiousness of Palmyra, he descended upon F. and M. Academy, where in two long years he laid the foundation which was fated to withstand the bombardments of Lehigh. The Fall of 1911 finds Ray indulging in the pastime of perusing the various text books that tend to characterize the first year in the Mining Course. This, however, did not continue long, for he soon began to differ with Thorny in reference to certain subjects and hence changed to B. S. in Geology. His first three years in our midst found him an active Y. M. C. A. worker, but upon taking up his residence in the Old Brewery, a decided change was effected, due no doubt to the atmosphere which at times has penetrated the same. He's all right.

*"Among the joys, 'tis one at eve to sail
On the broad river, with a favorite gale."*

Though hailing from the "Sunny South," Pinkey is really a product of "Lil' Old New York." He was born in that city (Brooklyn) and spent the greater part of his subsequent life in that state. His early education was completed by his graduation in 1911 from the Western High School of Washington, D. C. Following in the steps of his forefathers, he came to Lehigh, and, having seen Allentown, decided to stay. He worked hard his Freshman year, or thought he did, and earned the reputation of being a "shark," which reputation he has since been unable to live down, for in spite of spending seven evenings and several afternoons every week in Allentown, he still finds time to enter into many college activities and keeps consistently at the head of his classes. "What is the attraction," do you ask? That, gentle reader, we must leave to your imagination.

"There first a little space I'll rest."

This lad was born in a little railroad town known as Port Jervis, N. Y., and lived there for several years, after which he made a short stay in Jersey. Why he did this, nobody has been able to find out. After this he journeyed to Rochester but liked the Pennsylvania oil fields better and tried the soft coal region for a while. Later he moved among the Dutch and gave a hand at farming but could not stand it so back he went again to Buffalo. From there he came to South Bethlehem and tells us that he hopes soon to be able to say good-bye forever. This is a varied career for one so young but proves that the theory of perpetual motion is still as much in vogue as on the day when the apple fell on Sir Newton's dome.

By some happy chance he heard of a college located in a town made up purely of Dutch people and the call was too great. To make his ambition a realization he needed some of the filthy lucre, so joined a Dutch band which infested the streets of his home town.

He later played for the "movies" and in truth was a drawing card for the house, being idolized by the many frivolous fems who journeyed miles to hear him.

He can still tickle the ivories and we can wish him nothing worse than to find him a few years after graduation starring in his own musical comedy.

"Schrib" is a native of Manchester, England. We have never heard him make any stump speeches denouncing the Kaiser and all his workings, but perhaps he does this to a chosen few. While still an infant he determined to become a geologist. He became furiously jealous of Lindgren, Kemp, and Grabau, those Lights of Geology. He read geological reports and eagerly watched the progress in the latest research works on the dinosaur. Fossils were his toys. "I may not be good looking, but I'm damn cute!"

On the fourteenth day of the year 1891 a tiny mite was delivered via the Stork in Pennsburg. The infant was a precocious child and refused to be fed until he had analyzed his food and assured himself of its absolute sterility. His crib was a large evaporating dish and it is rumored that when first seen he was sucking contentedly a small platinum crucible instead of the proverbial spoon. It is hardly necessary to state that with these phenomenal traits inherent, he took up the Chemical Engineering course at Lehigh. Here he was a great favorite with "Shorty" because of their similar statures and dispositions. Lacrosse was his especial delight because he was so hard to hit that he got thru very easily, while he left behind him a wide trail of remembrances.

"Put a cherry in it."

Born in the historic (?) town of Newark in 1893, our Bill proceeded to get a start in life by attending the High School. Concerning his early life,—but here we hesitate—why dig up the past, for it has been "some" past. He came to us in the autumn, with the falling leaves, in nineteen hundred and eleven. During his college career "Bill" has interested himself in many different phases of social problems, the most prominent of which was the founding of a night school for foreigners with the assistance of the Bethlehem Steel Co. The rest of Bill's career can not be made public, as the writer has been carefully instructed not to mention it—in the first place because he knows too much about it, and in the second place because Bill says "Remember, this book goes home." Surely a bright future is in store for him.

"Just a hair."

Was Charles Warner Tanner a mistake? Emphatically yes. He was the greatest mistake that happened in the Nineteenth Century. This stupendous error occurred January 16, 1892, in the little western Pennsylvania college town of Washington.

He managed to get thru the elementary schools much in the same manner as our friend, Tom Sawyer, and not long after that we hear of him as a firm disciple of Scrap Johnson's at Bethlehem Prep. Here he received sufficient "edification" to allow him to enter Lehigh "by a hair" in the Fall of 1911. He at first tried the M. E. course but later, seeing the possibilities of the C. E. course along the lines of least resistance, quickly switched over.

SAMUEL PAUL TAYLOR, B. A.

Altoona, Pa.

"What's New?"

Why Paul came to Lehigh, nobody knows; he says it was a thirst for knowledge, but—nevertheless, when that western Pennsylvania town, Altoona, became too hot for him, he appeared at old South Mountain in the Fall of 1911 with trunks, valets, typewriter, and with many good intentions of forgetting those three pitfalls: wine, woman and song. To say that he succeeded or failed in the first two, we will not mention here, but to that third danger he completely succumbed. He has the excellent quality of not being easily discouraged. Not that he made the Glee Club, or composed any grand opera, but he has the old Victrola beat a mile when it comes to those good old songs like "Will There Be Any Stars in My Crown?", or "Do You Take This Woman for Your Lawful Wife? ". You notice he always runs to question marks. Paul is a member of the Kappa Sigma Fraternity.

He was born in Baltimore on Sept. 26, 1892. The preliminaries took place at B. P. I. and the final bouts are being staged at Lehigh. He took a year off to construct the Allentown concrete bridge (a wonderful exhibition of modern engineering) and has had time to become interested in numerous college activities as may be noticed below. Perry may be depended upon at all college meetings to make announcements of meetings of the C. E. Society or Maryland Club. (There will be eats and smokes; think of it, fellows, eats and smokes). "Cudgel thy brains no more about it."

On August 28, over twenty-one years ago, the stork, by chance, stopped at the thirty little Western Maryland village of Mt. Savage, and unburdened himself of a huge bit of humanity which soon after was called Cecil Russel Uhl. It is needless to tell how proud his doting parents were of him. They at once pronounced him a prodigy, thus giving him a terrible reputation to uphold later in life. He went to grammar school merely as a pastime until he was old enough to enter high school. It was in this great institution of learning in Cumberland, Md., where his great possibilities and the immense scope of his intellect were first discovered. He was at once given unusual opportunities to broaden his career. Special classes were arranged to equitably equip him to enter that Mecca of all engineering learning, Lehigh University. This he succeeded in doing in the fall of 1911. But here his trials and tribulations began. Now the time is gradually approaching when he will be called upon to prove to us his apparently remarkable abilities. All that remains for us is to wait. Time will tell.

He jumped at this opportunity as a whippoorwill jumps at a snapping turtle. So with one eye on America he employed the other in making a preliminary survey of the educational facilities at home. He attended the Tsin Hwa College in Foochow, China, his native city, in 1907. It was in 1911 that he made the big move and in the fall of that year entered the Colorado School of Mines. Two years in the Rockies and he heard Lehigh calling him. He has been with us ever since. "What can you contribute to the gaiety of nations?"

Would it ever occur to you that "Chad" Wolfe had been born in any other town than Allentown? No, of course, it would not. His birth, unlike all others, was not heralded nor was he "ushered into this world on a stormy eve." He was just simply wrapped in swaddling clothes back in 1894 at Port Carbon. Before he could think and act for himself, he was asked to go with the rest of the family to Allentown. And the peculiar part of it is that he did go—never since has he been known to consent to anything proposed by anybody. We could write all night about Charlie but we aren't going to for fear he will not appreciate our efforts (he never appreciates anything). He has been a commuter and his inquisitive face, with appended moustache, is not seen at every Lehigh function. People who frequent the library often see him grinding his way through "ponderous tomes." We won't be too hard on him.

"Slow but steady."

This light weight bantam, 115 pound rooster, put up his first scrap in Foo-chow, China. His next scrap of any importance was at a Y. M. C. A. smoker last year, when he played hide and seek about Davidson's legs. His career at Lehigh has been very successful. He is a deserving disciple of Dr. Ullman and this should add much to his possibility of future success.

"Such let me seem till such I be."

'Twas a balmy day in September, some four years ago, that Woodie first disturbed the peace of Old South Mountain by his triumphal entry. He was labeled with a liberal education, having perused the curriculum of some three or four schools. This exhibit of broad training had arrived via Honolulu where in those days his hat and coat could be found when he was "at home." Since then, however, the parental nest has been located in Washington and it is here that "Woody" hibernates during the Christmas holidays. As per his degree, we assume that he successfully combated with all scholastic requirements and indeed we are afraid that he will make a good civil engineer, after all is done and said.

Discussion of Results

A close survey of the foregoing pages will show the "gentle reader," that we are—well—quite the thing, at this season of the year. The glowing foreword, penned in a moment of inspiration, can now be questioned. We did not offer these pages for your approval, for your criticism, or for the glowing optics of the dearest little girl in Macungie, but rather for the meagre stipend, which you so reluctantly paid to the Shylocks of this Committee. You—1915, elected us to do our duty—for better or for worse, for—(but why predict the class cup?), and we have gone out into the night and did it. No blonde curls urged us on and our English training rather discouraged us, so on your hands be the fate.

The rifle team aims at the bull's eye, while we have been confined to the bull; but, believing as we do that they are quite up to correspondence school methods, and that our own education has been within certain bounds, we can still take a shot at them.

The committee has endeavored to equalize the lengths of the biographies, but alas! some were too good to lengthen and others too long for clipping. Our day is done—we have read them all, and the fate of the biographers lies in 1915's hands, or under their feet.

Ever shy and unobtrusive, the Committee refused to allow McK. to shoot the evidence. No! We had plenty of money and unlimited time, but the thought occurred to us that as long as we are resting comfortably on divers pages in the foregoing galaxy of stars, why drag us together only to beam at you again? Hence it was that we saved the situation and the class reputation by breaking the Class Book Committee picture custom.

You have knocked us—even now we are quailing under your glowering epithets. There is no comeback—and Mexico is a long way off.

COMMITTEE

Opinions

The general opinion of the Y. M. C. A. seems to be "Amen." It is still considered by many to be a fine phone booth and ladies' aid. The coeducational movement this year has increased the attendance greatly.

Daley considers the Chapel as a resting place on the way to the Brewery, so that accounts for his A's. Ennis has forgotten his first impression, and Albrecht calls it the "Last chance" before quizzes. Frey wants to know why there are hymn books.

Chandler says the Faculty are a promising bunch while Teeple considers them a composite of temperamental harmonies. Wills says we need some high class funerals which would happen if Shoemaker had his wish, to meet them in Packer Hall basement. Miller says they are a Thorny crowd while Dilcher likens them to the rear of a boat.

The standard opinion of the Mustard and Cheese is embodied in E. R. Frey's "Too Much Mustard." Vance advises Prohibition hereafter, while Wood refuses to knock. Humphrey says "nourishing" and Bodine, "A rare-bit."

The Colosseum authorities do not quite agree. Fisher calls it a place for the rich and Albrecht says it is a poor substitute for Mealy's. Vance says "hermetically sealed." Humphrey recalls the olden days and says it is a good place for wrestling meets and Ambrose says close friendships are formed there.

Since the modern dances are in vogue Humphrey "hesitates" to give his opinion of Mealy's and Taylor enquires "must you know." Baird calls it tangle-foot and Dilcher with his mind in Gotham calls it Castles in the Air. Hoban says it suits him and Teeple says it is where you meet your friends.

Fisher has been deceived—the last car still runs even tho' Merwin is not there. Daley also is mistaken—it is not a tank car for Royall calls it a life saver. Teeple says it is a good thing if caught, but Vitzthum worries not for he has lost his membership.

We disagree with Smith in regard to the Union Station, for we doubt if it is even worth the necessary dynamite. Green says it is a good place to leave behind. Tanner thinks it is typical of these diggings and Cranmer mistook it one night for the Ark come to light.

Lafayette is built on a Bluff says Humphrey and that may account for their being eternally broke according to Geyer. Bausman says high and dry, but having seen Easton on some nights we doubt the latter part. In ten years, according to Taylor, they will be off the map, so good-bye then to our annual half-holidays.

Buck says of the movies—"let there be light." Humphrey tells us that Pop is soon to incorporate them in the M. E. Course and Chandler says "reely?" Glass thinks they are the cause of "sore eyes" in more ways than one.

Ambrose takes total exclusion in Commons but Vitzthum says a necessary evil. Read refers us to Kings I, where it says "My Commons for a Ford." Bausman thinks there is some connection between St. Luke's and the Commons.

Of war Humphrey says, very unladylike, and Siebecker is horrified as his exclamation "Great Guns" shows. Dilley is not sure whether or not married life is meant.

Great Achievement

Do not judge the following achievements too harshly, hated reader. Give the boys a chance. Once thrust upon the hard, cold world they must achieve something and probably it will be great, but, in the meantime, hearken and do not be prejudiced by a perusal of the following:

"Never, having been asked a question by Baldy" is what Madden considers to have been his greatest achievement, while Priestly glories in having "carried twelve soups without a spill." Miller's bit of fame was "coming over the bridge with Pop Klein at 5 A. M." Where had you been, Jay? Rank declares that he met a "nice girl in the Bethlehems" and Buck glories in having "put Tate to bed the night after the Lafayette game." Hoban considers himself worthy of a leather medal for "never having flunked a math. quiz at Lehigh." He has nothing on De Huff, who went to Chapel "back in 1911." Neide's claim to having arisen every morning at 7.45 deserves consideration. Whiteman's best was to "design the wood cut on the table at Bob's." Geyer and Diven are so confident of graduating that they speak of that event as "a thing of the past." Wiegand prides himself upon "getting rid of an Insurance Agent in ten minutes." Some other notable achievements are: Clark's "learning to love Professor Fogg;" Lentz, "dodging chemistry lab. bills;" Weaver, "sleeping through two quizzes;" and some claim to have done the impossible by keeping awake during Fischer's lectures. A favorite achievement is to pass certain beloved subjects under certain beloved professors. Economics must really be a hard course, judging from the number who consider themselves highly honored in having passed it. Met. Problems also comes in for its share of publicity. McKee and Blank consider that in filling out the Class Ballot their names should be enrolled among the truly great. We wonder if Teeple means to imply anything when he says "being square with myself in college instead of bluffing my way through."

Ambitions

The ambitions of some of the distinguished members of the class soar to heights which seem unattainable. Yet, who knows? Collier desires to become "Emperor of the World." De Huff, with all due modesty, wants to "climb the pinnacle of fame." Give us the formula, Dee. Dilcher desires "to revolutionize the industrial world with some startling invention." Mitman wants to "become head of the Mechanical engineering department" and several desire "to become President." A goodly number will be happy if they "win the Class cup." Go to it, boys, it's not a handicap race. A few who are not sure of graduating want a "diploma." The ambitions of some are connected with the Faculty. Thus, Fisher would throw a fit if he could make "Thorny laugh." Hoffman would like to "chloroform Knabelman and present the fossil to the Paleontology Department." Vanneman would be satisfied to make "Baldy take a few of his quizzes" and Weaver to "raise a moustache like Buckner's." There are some, such as Dilley, who want to be the father of "triplets," and Nicholas who want to "satisfy the crying wants." Hoban says "it's a secret, but if I get her I will send you announcements." That's a go, George. Buck, looking around for a noble life to follow, wants "to be like Hoban." (This will all look well at home, George). Evans' sole ambition is "to have only seven conditions on the last day of May." We wish Teeple success in wanting to "become a good engineer and a good citizen," and Morris in desiring to be "the best mining man in the country." Boyd wants a "job like Henry's," and Bausman's hope is to "be able to beat Pete Koch out of a jitney." A. H. Frey will rest content when he can "smoke a cigarette like Honus Wagner," and Pierson when he "can sell peanuts at a football game." We wonder who Neide has it in for when he says "to own Lehigh University and fire certain parties." Weatherly wants to "edit the Police Gazette"—Ralph! Rank will spend the remainder of his days

"trying to find some news in the Brown and White," so he says. Shoemaker will rejoice when he will "be able to put Pons out of the room." Harder desires to donate money enut to start a consumptive's ward for the Met. Dept. Higgins will celebrate if Plug Richard ever comes to class with a soft collar on. Baird wants to be a "movie actor" and Smith frankly admits that it is his ambition "to work." All those who believe this, raise your right hand. The motion is lost. Picture Glass "coming down South Mountain on a Mack Truck without brakes." That is his sole ambition. Clear the track. Several desire to "make money," and Search admits that nothing less than "a millionaire mill" will satisfy him. Diven is in the same boat when he says to "marry an heiress and loaf." Look out, fair heiresses, Sam is after you.

Worst Thing You Have Ever Done

Teeple admits "lost an ocean of sleep before Junior Bridges exam. on account of fussing." Oh, Perry, Perry, what are you coming to? Hoban's crime was to fear that "Lafayette could beat us in football," and Chandler's that he once "stagged out of Huyler's." Ambrose "missed Chapel twice in succession," and Vitzthum "tried to talk to Nat." Buck was foolish enough to "try to get 'Baldy' Smith drunk," and E. R. Frey to "lend Sieger $10." Read admits that "raising a moustache" is something he will never attempt again, and the same applies to A. H. Frey when he "read a paper before the Chemical Society." Matheson regrets having "once arose at 7.45 A. M. for an eight o'clock," and More was never so vexed as when he "studied two hours on a wrong assignment." Weatherly writes us that his most wicked deed was to "kiss an ugly girl." We blush for you, Ralph; was it in this town? Stickel thinks he made an unnecessary move when he "studied for an American Lit. final," and Peterson was of the same opinion when he "came to South Bethlehem." Fisher says that the worst thing he ever did was "to sit beside Geyer on the bench." Not quite so bad as sitting beside him on the bar, Gyp. Eh, what! Baird's worst was that he once "voted to give the Tennis Team an 'L'" and Humphrey says that he "told some Frosh that Chapel was compulsory." Among the remaining calamities, we might mention Pugh's "going to see a fire in South Bethlehem;" Williams "slept a third of my life;" Ennis "went to Allentown;" Madden "attended Mealy's;" Collier "cut a class" and Kaung "kicked Clarence." Scores said they were too modest to tell. We know why! But as Hoffman says "we are all guilty."

Future Occupations

Reading the Crystal is a very pleasing pastime. What will we all be doing five or ten years hence? Instead of consulting the magic mystics we have put this up to the 1915 men themselves. Some will be engaged in philanthropic work such as the "reforming of Allentown," which Madden is going to undertake and Teeple has the right idea when he says "learning and helping." Ainey will be occupied "catching Job's tears in purgatory." Quite a few of the boys think that their course here qualifies or justifies them in being engineers. They must have used a little Calculus in making such assumptions. Siebecker boldly proclaims that he will be a "financier" and Wagner is not far behind when he claims that he will be a "second Walter Camp." Mitman (brave little Sammy) will be a "superintendent of open hearts," and Neide "a husband." The very idea! Can we imagine Opie Collier as a "preacher?" Well, hardly. Nor can we see how Fisher figures that he will be "shining halos." E. R. Frey will employ his spare time in "picking currents from a transmission line." Ware will be a "wireless lineman." Williams claims that he will be engaged in "railroad work," but on second thought puts a question after the word "work." Pierson is going to be a "barber;" Glesman, a "beaker boy;" Evans, a "mule (?) driver;" Albrecht, a "rag picker;" Sieger, "a plumber;" Wills, a "bartender;" Tanner, a "hobo," and Smith a "bricklayer." Chewing declares from the housetops that he is going to be a "homemaker," or breaker. Miller voices the sentiment of quite a few others when he says "here you have me."

Senior Class Book

Next to Yourself Who Would You Rather Be?

The ballot seemed to indicate that we are all pretty well satisfied with ourselves and the commitments were few. There are some exceptions, however, and suppose we let Pierson's name head this list with "Baldy Stewart." You know where you can tie that, Pee-wee. This also applies to Mitman when he says "Pop Klein." Green suggests "Honest Henry," and Shoemaker, "Carrie Nation or Mother Jones." Weaver, a sweet diffident young thing, says "this is so sudden." The number longing for a life of royalty is startling: several would like to be in the "Kaiser's boots," others the "Czar of Russia," "Sultan of Turkey," "Khedive of Egypt," "King of Siam," and "Brigham Young." The latter, although not of royal blood, may still be classed with the Sultan of Turkey and others for obvious reasons. "Anybody but a B. A. man," says Pugh and Hager suggests "the professor marking my papers." Read would like to be his "own ghost" and Chandler his "youngest child." Geyer and Neide admit that they would like to be any "married man." Morris says a "dead one" and Ware, "there's one born every minute and I'd just as soon be the next one." Nothing would please Higgins so much as to be "Plug" Richard's dog. "Coechez vous."

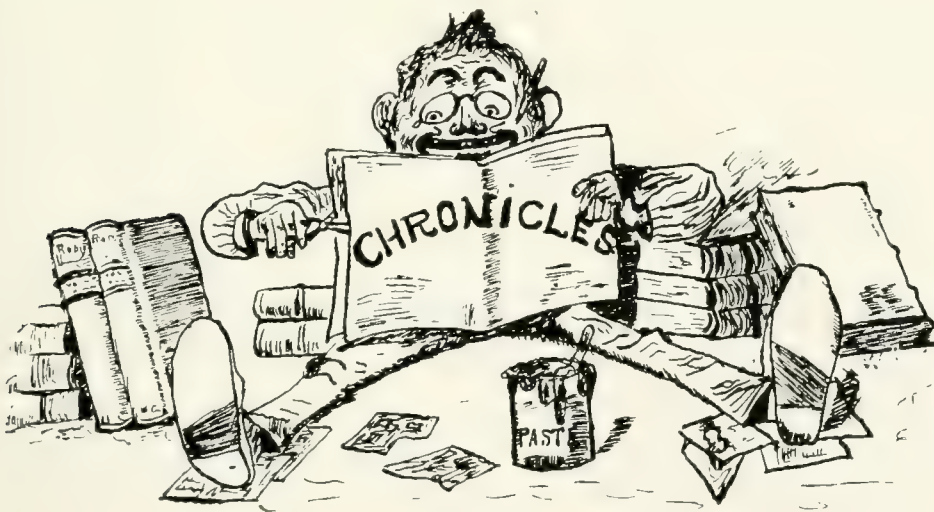

Reforming

Wherever we head upon this globe we will find room for improvement. The Class Book has given the illustrious dome-heads of the 1915 Class space to spread themselves and to hold up for criticism whatever they wish. Collier and Read are general and say that everything at Lehigh needs reforming. Buck very modestly says "The Faculty," while Vanneman more specifically states

"the part of the Faculty that tries to run athletics," Siebecker would like to see a change in the heads of the Civil, Math, and Chemical departments. You might think that these lads had graduated, the way they talk; but no, dear reader, they have not and, what is more, some of them may not. Boyd suggests "cutting out College Lectures" and Albrecht objects to the "compulsory physical torture." According to Green, the "coeducational department" needs looking into, and several think the Commons needs an overhauling. Eshbach, Pugh, Brockman, Sieger and Vitzthum think that Tau Beta Pi needs reforming. We think that this is sour grapes but will forgo the chance to wax sarcastic. Williams would like to see "more intermingling of men outside of class rooms" and we believe that he is right. Dilcher calls attention to the "garage question" at the Physics Lab, and the eraser famine in Williams Hall. Owen has a real reform when he answers "the college widows," and so has Bausman when he says "the Faculty row at the burlesque shows." Ware thinks "Jake's" needs reforming and you might think Teeple is a sinner from the number who think he should be reformed. College Spirit and the Honor System both come in for their share of the criticism. A. H. Frey says reform "class-hats;" More, "the hills;" Taylor, "expenditure of class money." Neide suggests that it should be harder to get in on certificate and easier to stay in college. Teeple criticizes the "attitude of upper-classmen toward the Honor System;" Ainey, "the irresponsible cult of egoism;" and Weatherly, "politics in elections." Search and Davidson think that "fraternity rushing should be systematized" and Clark would reform fraternities in general. What's the trouble, Joule? Bodine and Reitzel are not satisfied with the present method of selecting the Arcadia. Brown suggests reforming the student body, which would be a colossal undertaking, and Baird and Humphrey would like to see improvement in the "Freshmen" and "Under-classmen." Several think that South Bethlehem needs reforming, but Jay Miller caps the climax by saying "It's a wonderful place—why reform anything?" That's it, why?

Conclusion

Tired Reader:—

We are at an end. Our task is finished. We are happy.

Some of our beloved classmates may have been unjustly censored or slurred in these pages. Perhaps we are to blame, perhaps not. To blame or not, we will have to bear the burden and take all the thrusts and taunts.

We are going to close. We are tired. Goodbye.

JUNIOR CLASS

I DON'T know whether or not I shall say that it became my extreme pleasure, my sacred duty or my laborious misfortune to be called upon to chronicle the events which have made this class, catalogued by Father Time in his index as 1916, so famous or infamous. But, be it as it may, I must tell you of a few of our conquests and defeats and of our trials, tribulations and celebrations.

We were blessed in our infancy with as motley a mob of would-be engineers as most good cosmopolitan classes are. We were strong in numbers, unlimited in ambition, and full of "pep." Tackling for the first time that redoubtable improvement of the manner of receiving Freshmen fittingly, the "tie-up," we waded in like deck hands. I can not remember what the score was, but Sophomores were as scarce as yellow dogs after twenty of the most gruelling minutes we ever spent.

As is customary, we lost the "banner rush," attended all the "tea parties" and were hazed like good Freshmen, but we came back strong on Founder's Day, proving to our own satisfaction that the newly coined black-sock rule was not for us. But, here beginneth our reversals! Mid-terms separated the sheep from the goats, leaving enough goats, however, to do away with our first banquet. After the finals the separation was nearly as bad. We managed to wade thru our Sophomore year, inflicting as much damage on the "frosh" as was possible with our depleted forces. Nevertheless we again stowed away the Founder's Day sports for future reference, and thereby helped the sock and tie industry considerably. Our Sophomore year was brot to an eventful close by putting one over on old Calculus and cremating the old nightmare back of the Physics' building (hell) with great pomp and ceremony.

One consolation comes to us in remembrance of some of those bright spots that lighted our "thorny" path to knowledge. To get "Bose" aie, thrice have we seen the sun go down in the twilight gloom, o'ershadowing three glorious gridiron victories over both our neighbors along the river—an enviable achievement. The teams have been singularly successful since our arrival here, and have been plentifully manned by "sixteens." WE survived the two and only two years of that beautiful "tie-up" and were twice credited with a majority of the Founder's Day sports.

So much for our past. We are now enjoying the unrestricted privileges of upper classmen, tramping the old sod with a vengeance; next year we will wear moustaches, and, with everybody willing, when 1916 happens around we will round out the first fifty years of our Alma Mater's existence with a good class.

SOPHOMORE CLASS

EARLY in the fall of 1913 a few Sophomores of the 1916 class found out the material which came that year under the heading of "Freshmen." Our exploits of that year were recorded in the history as the "boomer" class of Lehigh, and we have again excelled this year. We heard of an international war, but never of "1918" until the fall of 1914 when we met a howling mob of boobs on Fourth street, meek and timid because of their tender years and our victory in the previous "tie-up," which was abandoned for fear of breaking their good resolutions.

To "start a scrap" was the slogan of the upper classmen, and we furnished them their amusement with ease; while we were careful of each other's dignity. Chapel is only for Freshmen as was shown by their attendance the next day, while our plans were carried out successfully to humiliate 1918 when going to Taylor field for their next defeat which came in the form of the "Banner-rush." Our vengeance was complete, for their having given us the slip at the American Forestry lectures, when we trapped them coming from Chemistry lectures, and their private "Sanitation" lectures, by instituting the "Blarney Stone" of 1917.

By a Faculty probation rule our chances of winning the postponed Founder's Day sports were a minus quantity. In spite of the mad-dog scare which put several of our "numeral" men in the hospital for repairs, we played rings around 1918 in football which furnished amusement in other lines besides athletic ability, the track event was lost. This fortunately raised the hopes and betting odds for the ball game which would decide the question of "Who would be the boss around college." Wow. Bang. Applause, more applause. Their first hitter made a homerun. What did you say? How many? Oh, only one, which was all they saw, except the runs being made by 1917.

It is useless to elucidate any further about our ability, because 1918 is still wearing "Black," which signifies the deepest grief that one can bear when he is subdued and humiliated by his superiors—the class of 1917.

FRESHMAN

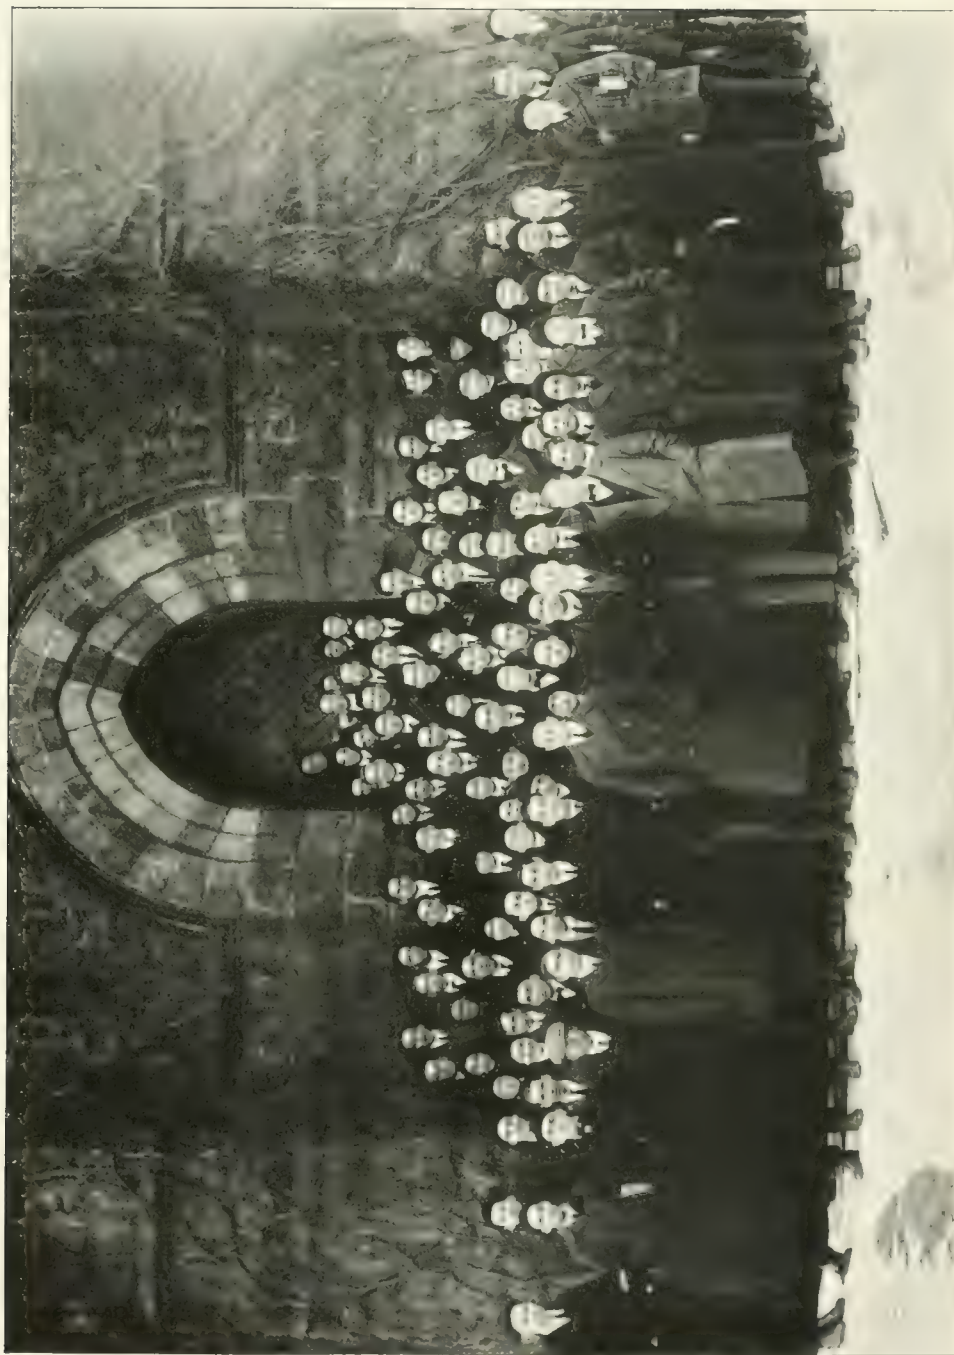

ONE night last September there came into existence the class of "Nineteen Hundred and Eighteen," and under the supervision of the Juniors started out for the "poster" fight. Altho we naturally felt more or less strange in this quaint town, nevertheless we were successful, as indicated by the number of Freshmen posters still up when "time" was called the next morning. On the afternoon of Opening Day, as we humbly marched out of chapel, we were met by hoards of Sophomores and were rather roughly treated. From here we went to the Gymnasium and organized ourselves for the "Banner Rush" on Taylor field. On account of inexperience we were defeated, altho we greatly outnumbered the Sophomores.

During the next two weeks there were parties held at which we dutifully performed—much to the Sophomores' delight. There were several "tea parties" held at the "Dorms" which were enjoyed by all at the expense of the Freshmen. Founder's Day finally came and with our new experience we were able to again banish the "Sophs," and to do the decorating to suit ourselves. The enthusiasm thus gained was of little use, however, for the next Wednesday we lost the football and baseball games in the Founder's Day sports. Nevertheless, we intend to prove that we are made of good material, scholastically, and at the end prove that we are not quitters.

Our first months in the university were marred with an unexpected sorrow. During the fall term there came upon us a Typhoid Fever epidemic which soon took away from our midst John W. Mullen and Warren I. Henn, two men whom we had already learned to love.

MUSTARD AND CHEESE DRAMATIC CLUB

C. L. PACKARD

THE thirtieth annual production of the Mustard and Cheese Dramatic Club was the two act musical comedy "Make Me Laugh." The book and lyrics by J. E. Gheen and the music by C. L. Packard and C. E. Siebecker were written expressly for the association.

The show was first presented April 25th at the Grand Opera House. It was a pronounced success and was well received by the Junior Week audience. On May 2nd the club traveled to New York and staged a performance at the Hotel Plaza. The final show occurred during commencement week.

During the past year the Minstrel Association combined with the Mustard and Cheese Club and the annual fall minstrel show gave place to a variety vaudeville show. The character of the performance gives promise of a successful future for this new step.

Charley Taylor Day

THE formal opening of the new Taylor Gymnasium, Field House and Field took place at the University on Saturday, October 17, in the presence of a large company of students, alumni, faculty, trustees and friends. It was an altogether notable event—alike for the significance of the improvements in an educational way, for the character of the gift and the manner of giving, and for the whole-heartedness and spontaneous enthusiasm shown on all sides. In Lehigh history “Charley Taylor Day,” as the students first, and everybody else, chiming in, called it, will stand out as a day of unique importance and of a flavor characteristic of “a typical Lehigh man who has loved and worked for Lehigh through all of his life * * * * honest, modest, lovable;” a man upon whom “Fortune has smiled” and who has “graciously passed the smile around;” a man who has “won not alone the gratitude but the respect, the admiration, the love of every son of Lehigh.”

During the morning visiting alumni and friends inspected the Gymnasium, Field House and Stadium under the guidance of members of the student body. Luncheon was served in the Commons at 12 o'clock. Then came the addresses of the day. The speakers were: President Drinker, in opening the exercises; Mr. Taylor, in response to Dr. Drinker's greeting; Harold A. Brown, '14, President of the Senior Class, presenting to Mr. Taylor, in behalf of the student body, a large silver loving cup; Archibald Johnston, M.E., '89, who made the principal address of the day; Professor John L. Stewart, in behalf of the Faculty; Bishop Ethelbert Talbot, in behalf of the Board of Trustees; Emil Diebitsch, President of the Alumni Association, in behalf of the Association; Dr. John A. Brashear, in behalf of Mr. Taylor's Pittsburgh friends.

Townpeople of the Bethlehems turned out in great number at the football game in the Stadium in the afternoon, manifesting their appreciation of the value to the community of Mr. Taylor's gift.

The game was between the elevens of the Carnegie Institute of Technology and Lehigh University. Mr. Taylor is a Trustee of both institutions.

Novel features of the afternoon included the first formal appearance of the Lehigh University new student band, and the grouping of students on the south stands in such order that their white hats spelled the word Taylor; later they formed a large T. The cheering for Mr. Taylor was hearty and continuous, and the students sang several songs especially written for the occasion. Between the halves the entire student body had a parade on the football field, where they grouped themselves in the form of the letter T and gave cheers and songs. Mr. Taylor who, with Mrs. Taylor, occupied a seat in the north stand, led the students in several of the songs. The entire scene was one of unbounded enthusiasm and good spirit.

The closing function of Taylor Day was a University dance in Drown Memorial Hall at which Mr. and Mrs. Taylor were present.

TOM KEADY

The most important factor in Lehigh's foot- ball success for the past three years is "Tom" Keady. As head field coach Tom put the "old gyp" in the team, for "the never say die spirit" of the team while Tom has been boss has resulted in victories out of defeats. Tom has one of the best football heads in the coun- try. The plays and formations that he devised were some of them entirely new, and as the record of the season shows produced the desired results.

H. R. REITER

Bosie stands for the system that sent Lafay- ette down to defeat for the third consecutive year. "Bose" has made possible the new gym- nasium, the improvements to the field, and the system. To the system is due the success of all forms of athletics, and the system is improving all the time. Everybody must take exercise, and it is almost as easy to take it with a team as anything else. And besides this, "Bose" is constantly improving the "spirit."

THE TEAM

CAPTAIN G. W. HOBAN

counts. On an end run or on a line pluge George would turn in his distance and usually a little extra for good luck. On the defence he could be relied upon to keep away from the interference and drop the man with the ball. Although not especially fine as a punter Hoban could be relied to get the ball off and did it often, usually holding up his end if it came to a kicking game.

The team says Honus is the All-American manager, and his work the past season shows it. The schedule was a wonder, and the home games were fine, as a result, with fine attendance. Nothing was too good for the team. But with it all the balance shown by the football accounts was very respectable, and was on the right side of the sheet. One of the best things that can be said for a manager is that he kept the team, the college, the coaches, and the Athletic Committee all satisfied with the way things were going. This can be said with perfect truth of "Honus."

CAPTAIN Hoban is one of the gamest men that has represented Lehigh in football. After being tackled in a manner no matter how hard George would come up with a smile on his face. This was disconcerting at times, to the other team.

His work has been uniformly good throughout the time that he has played on the team. When Captain Crichton failed to return to college in the fall it fell on George's shoulders to act as field captain almost every game. His knowledge of the game and coolness while on the field and in a game made him the ideal man for the place. Therefore his election to the Captaincy came almost as a matter of course.

While Hoban's playing has not been sensational it was steady and of the kind that

MANAGER C. S. WAGNER

SCRUGGS

"Stewy" played a marvelous game at the pivot. Although light and playing against heavier men Stewy was not outplayed throughout the season. His passes were quick and accurate, on the offensive, and with his passing, he found time to make a hole in the opposing line. On the defensive, Scruggs played a shifting game, backing up the line or the ends wherever needed. He was enabled to do this because of his ability in diagnosing plays and because of his speed, for Stewy is certainly speedy. At the beginning of the season Scruggs alternated with Hoban as field captain and performed the duty well. Scruggs is a Junior, so we may hope to see him play again next year.

CHENOWETH

"Chenny" the diminutive, played a remarkable game at quarter back after the faculty withdrew their ban on him, which they had at the beginning of the season. Chenny could use his head and had rare ability in choosing the right play at the right time. He was fast and often got away for a good run. He could pass the ball for a short or long distance and worked with the ends in beautiful forward passes. If anyone could get the most out of the team it was Chenny, for he kept them on the jump and going all the time.

CAHALL

"Billy" played two positions this year with equal success. Before the faculty let Chenny in the game Billy ran the team from the quarterback position. After Chenny came back Billy came back to half back. Here he shone to great advantage. Walter Camp picked him for second choice All-American Right Halfback. He was the best goal kicker in the country this past season, making nine field goals. He could forward pass accurately for considerable distance, and in addition to this Billy was a punter of exceptional ability.

MAGINNES

"Mac" showed up well in his first year of college football. His position was half-back. "Mac's" strong point was on the defense, as he was a hard and sure tackle. In carrying the ball Mac showed his speed in great shape, often getting away for considerable gains. This was Maginnes' first year in college football and the experience gained will make him an extremely valuable man next year.

FRANK GREEN

Frank Green showed up well at guard this year. His big height and weight made him a terror to the opposing line. It was almost impossible to get a play through Frank, and the opposing team usually soon gave up the attempt to find how weak Gren's guard was. An injury kept him out of some of the games, but his hard work and determination kept him a place.

TATE

Faculty restrictions kept Tate out of the game for a short portion of the season at the start. When he did get in he showed how the position should be played, notably in the Penn State game, when he was up against one of the best tackles in the country. But Tate's weight and height, with his fighting spirit showed game after game. He could open holes in the line that were enormous, and that were used to good advantage. His work throughout the period when the faculty allowed him to get in the game was steady and brilliant, and showed him to be a good man for the captaincy of next year's team, to which he was elected at the close of the season.

SAWTELLE

Sawtelle followed the ball very closely and often converted the other sides misplays into gains or even scores for the Brown and White. His specialty was grabbing a forward pass and getting away for gains. He could be relied upon to get the interference at least when a play came in his direction, and after one or two tries at his end the opposing team soon quit. This was Sawt's third year representing Lehigh on the gridiron, and the result of his experience was apparent. Sawt was another man on the All-Pennsylvania team.

GOOD

Bob Good played his first year on the 'varsity in various positions, oscillating between tackle and halfback. Last year Bob was quarterback of the scrubs, and his experience soon made itself felt, in his apparent ability to diagnose plays. As tackle Bob showed remarkable ability for getting in and smearing up a play on the defense and while on the defense he opened up big holes in the opposing line. In the backfield Bob was a good line-plunging back and did excellent work on the defense. Good is a sophomore, and no doubt we'll see more of his ability next year.

FRED GREEN

Freddy Green showed up better than ever this year at end. Freddy is heavy, but does not look it, and so attempts were often made to smother him and get a play around him. But these were mostly only attempts, for Freddy had a disagreeable habit of breaking things up, in the way of smooth team work on the opposing team. Fred is quite a speed merchant and got down and got his man after a kick. Freddy was strong at grabbing forward passes and made big gains with them. Freddy was tried at halfback, beside his position of end, and could play it in good shape, but not so well as at end. In addition to these things Fred was a punter of no mean ability.

HALSTEAD

"Ty" is a wonder at hitting the line. When we consider that "Ty" had his first year in college football this past year, we wonder at the way he worked. Something that seems as if it should handicap him is his light weight, as he weighs only about 165 pounds, but that seems only a small factor, for "Ty" could be depended upon for the small extra distance in almost any pinch. "Ty" worked very hard and showed up well in every game. His great forte was on the defensive.

PONS

"Nick" could tear holes in an opposing line big enough to drive a buggy through. His weight, which was about 265, soon told in wearing his opposing guard down and then Nick could do almost as he wanted. On the defensive "Nick" got through time after time to throw an opposing back before the play could get fairly started. Very often Nick could take care of two men, leaving the center free. This year is Nick's Sophomore year, and there is every reason for hoping to see Nick a star of the first water next year.

GRUMBACH

"Lou" showed up well at the start of the season, continuing his steady work of last year. He showed that he could play either tackle or guard and show up the opposing man. Because of his height Lou was able to get through or over, and break up a play before it was started. But in the very first game of the season, that with F. and M. Lou sustained an injury that prevented him showing up to advantage the rest of the season, his arm was broken. But as soon as the doctors would allow it Lou was out on the field taking his medicine with the scrubs, giving the 'varsity the benefit of his experience in that way.

DESMOND

Desmond had the call at end at the start of the season, but was one of the typhoid victims. In fact the day that Jack played his last game of the season he was nearly all in because of typhoid. Desmond is a tall, rangy fellow, with considerable weight attached to him, who can get down the field in good time to cover a man after a kick or who can pull down a forward pass from a considerable height. This year was Desmond's first, and so we may look forward to seeing him better than ever next year.

HOFFMAN

"Trusty" certainly lived up to his nickname again this year, being out in the thick of it all, helping the scrubs with all his might. Year after year Trusty has been out trying to make the team, and year after year he has missed out. But that did not phase Trusty. He stood up to the 'Varsity on the scrubs, doing his best to give his alma mater a good football team. He knew that he was light and was handicapped, but he was among the first out every day, and stayed as long as he could. His example has done as much as any other thing here to bring home to us the true meaning of sportsmanship.

OSTROM

Ostrom came to Lehigh with a reputation and made good in spite of it. From the Muhlenberg game on throughout the season Osty played an exceptional game at guard. His weight was a considerable factor in his playing, for Osty is rather stout. He has not been outplayed this season, and the balance is always more in his favor. He has opened holes in the opposing line that the backs have been quick to take advantage of, with a resulting large gain, usually. Ostrom was another member of Lehigh's football team who was picked for the All-Pennsylvania football team. Osty is a Junior.

RICHARDS

"Al" held down the Right Tackle place throughout the season, notwithstanding the fact that he was playing his first year of college football, that there was no lack of excellent material and that he was one of the lightest men on the team. Richards played a fine game. He showed fight from the start to the finish of every game, never giving up, and showing that he kept in excellent condition. His work against heavier men was all that could be desired. He was one of the gamest men on the field. As "Al" is a Sophomore there is every reason to hope that we will see him playing a great game next year.

BECKER

There is no question but that Becker is awfully light. He is probably one of the lightest guards in the colleges. But that didn't matter a bit to Becker, for he played his hardest in every game that he got in, and showed up a much bigger man, usually. It is hard to tell how he did it but he had the faculty of spilling his man in the face of his own play, or of getting through and musing the play up. His stamina was good, too, for he was seldom forced to quit, which is remarkable, considering his weight and that he was playing against a bigger man, usually. Becker is another Sophomore.

ASST. MANAGER MUDGE

Assistant Manager Mudge, now Manager Mudge worked very nearly as hard as the men on the team for the success of the football season. He was out every day doing his best to keep things going in the right way. It is reported that he already has a wonderful schedule ready for next year, which will tend to make next year bigger and better than ever before.

FOOTBALL

Season of 1914

At the beginning of the year Lehigh football stock was pretty low. Many of the 1913 team had graduated or had not come back to school and other veterans were under faculty ban. With the scrubs from the previous season and a bunch of good new material Coach Keady and his coaching staff soon had a team put together that had the stuff.

To start the season off the team got together and walloped F. and M. by a 12-0 score. F. and M. went down to Philadelphia the following week and beat Penn 10-0. Then the Indians came, saw, and went back home without much cheer. The score that spelled disaster to them was 21-6. By this time we began to realize how good the team was. The team traveled up to Yale the next Saturday and came back with a virtual victory, for they beat Yale by a 3-0 score the first half, with a beautiful drop kick. In the second half Yale put in a fresh team that beat the fagged-out Lehigh team.

Then Carnegie Tech came from Pittsburgh and played a fine, fast game. They gave us the scare of the year, and on Taylor Day. But Sawtelle, Cahall, and Hoban gave a fine exhibition, saved the day for us and we came out on the long end of a 24-20 score. This was an open game with forward passes making long gains.

Then Muhlenberg came from Allentown with a lust for blood. In a hard fought and bitter game Lehigh line smashed her way to a victory. The final score was 27-0. Johns Hopkins followed a week after Muhlenberg and was easily defeated by a 33-0 score.

In a fine game with Penn State Lehigh startled Penn State by its strength. Penn State had held Harvard to a tie score and as Harvard was probably the best team in the country last fall State was not expecting much trouble. But although Desmond had typhoid, Grumbach was suffering from a broken arm and Billy Cahall had a bum ankle Coach Hollenbach's proteges were given the first trimming of the year. Holes were opened up time after time through Penn State's wonderful line and the backs smashed through. Lehigh's kicking in this game showed how strong it was. State was clearly outplayed in all departments of the game, and was beaten by a score of 20-7.

In the next game which was with Villanova Lehigh showed the effects of its hard game with State, for it showed a strong tendency to slump. But in this game Lehigh came out ahead. The team showed up poorer in this game than in any other thruout the year, playing listlessly and without any resemblance of its usual power.

The next game with Lafayette would determine if the season were a success, for even in view of the wonderful record thru the rest of the year it would spoil the season to lose to Lafayette. But the team played as well in this game as in the State game. Naturally, therefore, the team came out ahead. While the game was hard fought thruout, and Lafayette showed its never say die spirit the determined fighting of the team showed at the start and the result was not long in doubt. In this game as in no other the team showed its versatility of attack, gaining by line plunging, by forward passing, by ability to drop kick.

Taken all in all the season of 1914 was a signally successful one. Only one game was lost, and that to Yale, and even in that game Lehigh scored on Yale and beat them during the first half. As victims are numbered Lafayette, Penn State, F. and M. and Carlisle. Lehigh scored 167 points to her opponents 64. One man was second choice on the All-American team of Walter Camp's, and champion drop-kicker of the year. Five Lehigh men were on the All-Pennsylvania team. Thanks for this is due to Professor Reiter, Coach Keady and his capable assistants, to the team itself, to the scrubs, and in a slight extent to the spirit of the student body in sticking behind the team and letting them know it by their cheering.

Co. team saw both batteries working well, but the heavy slugging of the Steel team gave them the game for an 8 to 7 score.

A brace in the team's work won the game from New York University. Loose fielding by Bucknell, and our hard hitting gave us another 18 to 0 credit. We played the University of Pennsylvania on May 6, but the "Quakers" took the game away from us for the price of 3 to 0. The next team to appear on Taylor Field was Pennsylvania State College. They probably wanted to play forever, but darkness ended the game, which had resolved itself into a pitchers' battle—the score standing three all at the end of the twelfth inning.

By brilliant work on bases the Brown and White team secured a score of 2 to 0 from the University of Pittsburgh. Villa Nova then came and gave us the 4 to 0 game—they couldn't find our field hits.

In the first of the series with Lafayette, we went to Easton with an uneasy feeling. Their season thus far had been a distinct success, and so we added another victory to their list—just to tease 'em along.

Then Dickinson landed here just when Tom's team had a hitting streak. Dickinson hit some too, but the Brown and White team scored 8 to their 3.

We then went back to Easton for the second game—just to tie the series.

The Seton Hall ball-tossers arrived next, and after the pitchers' struggle in which Anderson secured ten strike-outs to Whalen's five—nevertheless the visitors took the game with a 4 to 1 win.

Lafayette came to South Bethlehem on Alumni-day, and furnished a bunch of thrills for the Commencement Week visitors. Lehigh assumed the lead in the second inning—scoring two runs on Keady's two-base hit over right-field fence. The greatest anxiety was felt in the last half of the ninth inning when the score stood 4 to 3 for Lehigh. Lafayette secured three men on bases with only one out—but, that wonderful "Andy" saved the day and the "series" by striking the last men out.

The Chinese University team came on June 8. Several of the "Varsity" men had already gone home for the summer, but even with the patched line-up we prevented the semi-professional "chinks" from getting away with more than 5 to our 3. Comparatively little interest was shown in this last game, for we had already "turned the trick," we had "beat Lafayette" in the series.

THE TEAM

CAPTAIN-ELECT BUCK

THE 1914 Lacrosse season was a most successful season in every way, Lehigh winning the championship of the Southern Division of the United States Lacrosse League. Unfortunately, the season was opened with a defeat, Navy winning with a score of 5-1.

Cornell, the winner of the Northern Division of the League, was tied in the second game with a score of 1-1. From then on there was no stopping the Brown and White team and all opponents were out-classed. The Crescent A. C. was beaten by a 2-0 score, and the N. Y. Lacrosse Club was humiliated to the tune of 16-0. Next came Johns Hopkins, one of the season's best games, with Lehigh coming through on the long end of a 6-4 result. Swarthmore was then trimmed 5-2 and later the Indians were "scalped" 7-2. The season was closed with a 3-0 victory over Stevens.

The success of the team can be well accredited to the coach, John Grimes, and to the fact that the aggregation consisted of many veterans.

Season 1914-1915

ALTHOUGH not as successful on the basketball floor as during the previous year, nevertheless as far as actual points and victories are reckoned the Brown and White team had a successful season. Out of a schedule of sixteen games, nine resulted in Lehigh victories, the total points of the season giving Lehigh 463 points to the opponents 435 points.

WRESTLING

THE TEAM

Wrestling

SEASON OF 1915

CAPTAIN G. SAWTELLE

The outlook for next year is very encouraging to say the least, as there should be a veteran team all the way through.

THE wrestling season of 1915 was the most successful season that any Lehigh wrestling team has had as yet. The financial success of the team was pronounced, and its showing this year makes even more secure Lehigh's position as a leader in intercollegiate wrestling. The veterans from last year's team made it necessary to develop men for only the 135 and heavy weight classes. All the way through the team the showing was fine, although the team won only three meets out of the six dual meets. The three meets that were won, which were with Pennsylvania at Philadelphia, and with Columbia and Brown at home were won by wide margins, and the meets that were lost were all so close that one bout difference would have decided them in our favor. In the Intercollegiates the team made a wonderful fight to get the title from Cornell, and in this a bout from Cornell or at the most two bouts would have made sufficient difference to land Lehigh in front.

Soccer Association

The Lehigh University Soccer Association was organized in the fall of 1913 but it was not until the past year that a schedule was arranged. From the standpoint of games won and lost the season was nothing exceptional. The teams met consisted for the most part of seasoned players while the Lehigh team was composed of men new to the game with only a few exceptions and without the aid of a coach. A series was played with Lafayette, two of which the latter won, the third game resulting in a tie. Prof. Percy Hughes was president of the association. The following are members:

G. D. HENDERSON, '17, Capt.	W. C. SCHULZ, '17	H. L. LEHR, '17

That Pink Tea

TUNE—"International Rag."

What brought you here old Knebelman?
You're damn far from an able man,
The mark you handed me is sure a daisy,
You crazy 3 for 10.
You've got a lot to answer for,
Because the fellows sure are sore;
You've got "Pop Meaker" stopped, "Knebe,"
Right to the core.

~~Verse~~

CHORUS:

The boys all lost their dignities,
They're going home with F's and E's,
They'll spend their summer nights
With spheroids, paraboloids 'n a hell of a bunch of other oids.
The boys that thought they had some brain,
Acted far from sane,
When they saw their marks go "Bango!"
"Snot" and "Goog" and "Lazy Jack,"
Said "Good Lord, they'll all be back."
"Dutch" said, "we'll make them sick
Of spheroids, paraboloids 'n a hell of a bunch of other oids."
Old "Thorny" shook with laughter,
"Knebe, you're the guy I'm after,
Just me and you, and the crew, that gets thru, 'round here will be few."
C. M. S., '15.

Gone But Not Forgotten

TUNE "I'm on my way to Mandalay."

Two long years are behind, do not bring them to mind,
We don't fear Calculus for it's left far behind.
No more logs and sines or symmetric lines,
No more stairs to climb, now we rise at nine,
So long to "Dutchy's" stick and "Snotty's" trick,
The whole crew's slick:—

CHORUS:

Oh!—"Thorny's" crew is feeling blue,
Because we've shown them tricks they never knew.
"Snotty," "Jack," and "Googy" too, at last we're leaving you.
The marks you gave us, never helped to save us,
We made a fuss, but now—
We give a cheer, each engineer,
We've come to say "Goodbye."

Packer Hall beats the "fump," it's some dump, it's some dump,
When you call, you're a chump, you're a chump, just a chump;
Knebelman is there, Alrich has his lair,
And within the rooms there dance little "Glooms,"
Who skip and sing and shout when you flunk out,
"He's up the spout":—

G A G S

The best gag that was handed in to this department was a blank sheet of yellow wrapping paper. Many thanks!

♣ ♣ ♣ ♣ ♣

PROF. MILLER, in Forestry:—"How can you make small trees grow?"

MARTIN, '16—"They require shade, so plant them under big ones."

MILLER—"How can you make sure that seeds you have are good?"

MARTIN—"Buy them from a reliable firm."

♣ ♣ ♣ ♣ ♣

PROF. LARKIN, in Eng. Lab., pointing to clock in the midst of steam gages—"What would you call that?"

CLARK, '16, reasoning it out—"Well, there are two hands on it, I guess it shows pressure against time."

A Few Hints

Dr. Wilson of the Chemistry Department is not the President of the United States, that's the way he disguises.

♣ ♣ ♣ ♣ ♣

J. Hunt Wiley did not invent the steam engine nor apply electricity to the home. He's trying to do something better.

♣ ♣ ♣ ♣ ♣

A. W. Klein marks to three decimal places because he writes numbers neatly, not because he don't like students.

♣ ♣ ♣ ♣ ♣

Prof. Richards is not a lion tamer, that is a dog beside him and a book under his arm.

♣ ♣ ♣ ♣ ♣

Jimmy Mahoney is not Irish, that's his makeup.

♣ ♣ ♣ ♣ ♣

The faculty often keeps a few fellows in the different courses so they can have Commencement Week.

Dec. 25—Lecture on Wild Birds and how to attract them. Attendance of students is required.

PROFESSOR MESCHTER, in English "What is this book written in mostly?"

WARE, '18—"In English."

FISCHER, in Metallurgy—"There are between three and four baskets in a tank."

Extract from Prof. Thornburg's new Differential Equations: "The student should not be discouraged if he is unable—"

KELCHNER, '15—"I haven't eaten anything all day, what would you call a guy that can do that?"

BODINE, '15—"A vegetarian."

Trouble

It's a fine thing to be on the Epitome Board
And to fill up the book with good lore,
But it sure is a whole lot of work
And many's the time we've been sore.
Get up in the mornin' at six or before
And to bed way long after twelve,
The bones in our backs are complainin' and sore,
And believe me this life is just—war.

I wonder if Mary Pickford is dead,
If John Bunny ever gets lit,
If they're dancing at Mealey's the old stuff or new,
If the Coloss' is still "going it."
If the Grand is still running those "Burlie Queen" shows,
If Jake Oppelt and Bob are still there,
If the girls of Sous'd Besslem still have their Frosh beaux,
If someone's late been on a "tear."

Aw, well, by the time you see this very sad verse
The book will be printed complete,
Come round then, and talk of the gambling curse,
And talk of some girl cute and neat.

HOMEWOOD, '17—"Professor, how far will a body sink if its specific gravity is three?"
PROFESSOR CHARLES—"How deep is the liquid?"

♣ ♣ ♣ ♣ ♣

DIVEN, '15—"Does your fountain pen leak that way all the time?"
ATKINS, '15—"No, only when it has ink in it."

♣ ♣ ♣ ♣ ♣

PIKE, '17—"Who made the training table?"
MUDGE—"They didn't, they used the same one."

♣ ♣ ♣ ♣ ♣

MAGEE, '18—"Why does our maid wear an 'L?'"
NEVER, '16—"Because she was on the scrubs so long."

PROF. LUCH, indignantly—"Quit this quibbling, who was Benjamin Franklin, answer yes or no?"

♣ ♣ ♣ ♣ ♣

PROF. FOGG, in Geology—"Mr. Teeple, why do you ask so many questions?"
TEEPLE, '15—"I want to bring out the lesson for the rest of the class."

♣ ♣ ♣ ♣ ♣

KELCHNER, in railroads—"and 24 hours in every year."

Questions on examination paper: "Discuss the federal reserve act."

A few of the answers—

"It is under the Interstate Commerce Commission."

"It was a plank in the Democratic platform."

"It governs the national guard."

DR. WILSON, in lecture—"In making the ring test for HNO pour your solution carefully down the outside of the tube."

Charley Allen, at one time candidate for Governor of Massachusetts, spent his undergraduate days at Amherst College. In Professor Bill Esty's class one day he rushed through a mathematical demonstration with great brilliancy, as it appeared to the class, but Bill was not satisfied.

"That will hardly do, Mr. Allen," he said, "you must demonstrate as if I didn't know and you were making it clear to me."

Allen obediently went at it again, and in the midst of his demonstration remarked:

"Then you multiply $X \times Z$, you understand what I mean by multiply, don't you, professor?"

—N. Y. TIMES.

A FABLE

Once upon a time there was an undergraduate. He was such a well behaved undergraduate that he refused to go out with the other undergraduates in extra curriculum activities. And he settled back into a bombproof existence.

MORAL

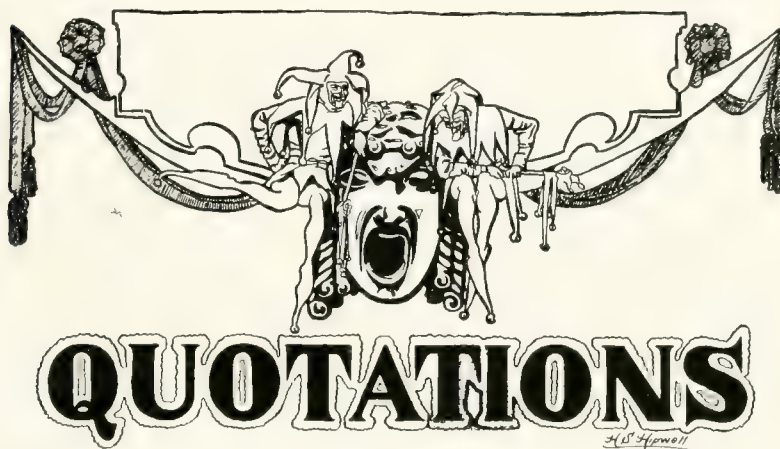

He spent his last two years in criticizing the fraternity system, the faculty, the head coach, the college periodicals, and whatever else he happened to think of. TIGER.

Ode to Summer School

With apologies to Lowell

O, what is so rare as a day in June,
Then, if ever, come perfect days,
When Heaven tries earth if it be in tune
And over it softly her warm ear lays.
The steel works are heated with blasts from below
And the freshmen all fervently pray,
As they journey around all dirty, all black,
And wish 'twere Saucon Hall day.
O, what is so raw as a day in the works,
Why, the skin of a sophomore
Beating about for some nice cool spot,
Counting days 'til July 4.
Maybe your gang trots up on to "Old South"
Of the valley to make a survey,
Then you will sweat in the back of your neck
And you'll wish for a much hotter day?
But, lucky the gang that goes up to the lake
With Windy and Becker to teach,
Then, what is so rare as a day in June,
In truth, every one is a peach.
But think of the gang in the hot engine room,
Way down in the devil's own hold,
Each fellow hopes for the end of that June,
Or envies the days when 'twas cold.
O, what is so rare as a day in June
In the Lehigh summer schools?
The devil tries student if he be in tune;
Next year there'll be more of us fools.

“For when but a child you should act as a child.”—HISS, '16.

“No, you won't 'eed nothin' else
But them spicy garlic smells.”—CHEM. LAB.

“The hungry sheep look up and are not fed.”—COMMONS.

“Well now it's anything but clear,
What is the tone that's taken here?”—CALCULUS.

“The world of fools has such a store
That he who would not see an ass,
Must 'hide at home and bolt his door
And break his looking glass.”—COWBOY WAGNER.

“Then there came by twa gentlemen
At twelve o'clock at night, O,
And they could neither see house nor ha'
Nor coal nor candlelicht, O.”—BOB'S.

“Render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's.”—ASHBAUGH.
Nobody loves a fat man.”—PONS AND INGE.

“Joyriding Pennsylvania Dutchman.”—EHRGOTT, '16.

“The locomotive that never gets going.”—COLLIER, '15.

An ornate, hand-drawn border surrounds the central text. It features a variety of animals including birds, a deer, a rabbit, a fox, and a bear, intertwined with elaborate floral and scrollwork patterns.

BUSINESS FRIENDS

Q We are presenting in the following pages, interspersed with pictorial views the business cards of firms whose dealings with Lehigh deserve our highest recommendation. By occupying space here these firms have shown their deep interest in Lehigh, and to them is largely due the financial success of this book.

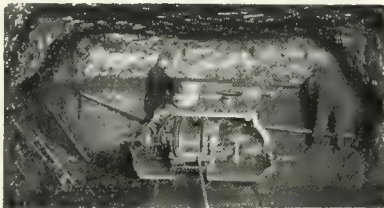

Q We have solicited only the best firms, and to occupy space in this Annual is a sufficient endorsement of quality. We commend them unto you, hoping you will give them at all times your most favorable consideration.
